Liquidating Firm Submits Deal For Knowles Plant

Shareholders of the Edwin M. Knowles China Co., closed since late 1962, have been asked to vote on a proposal to sell the plant as an entity to Yoder & Frey, Inc., of Archbold, Ohio, a firm which specializes in sale of industrial real estate in liquidation of factories.

A letter explaining the proposal was sent Thursday to all the shareholders over the signature of William D. Christopher, Knowles' vice president and secretary. It asked the holders of the 5,000 shares of stock to indicate their decision by March 1.

THE LETTER to the shareholders said the offer from Yoder & Frey is contingent upon it being able to purchase at least 90 per cent of the stock.

A spokesman for Knowles said the Archbold company has indicated it "will make every effort to keep the plant intact and sell it as a going concern."

If Yoder & Frey cannot sell the plant as an entity "within a reasonable period of time" indications are that the firm will auction off the equipment and sell the buildings and land separately, the Knowles spokesman said.

The future of the big Newell plant has hung in the balance since last Sept. 5, when the officers announced the shareholders had been asked to meet Sept. 13 to vote on accepting or rejecting a plan for liquidating the corporation.

HOWEVER, at the meeting Sept. 13, the stockholders postponed the final decision until Sept. 27 to allow the officers an opportunity to negotiate further "with certain prospects" for purchase. The purchase did not materialize, however, and the stockholders later voted to allow the liquidation procedure to continue.

It was then that the firm of Yoder & Frey first was contracted with to sell the firm's assets at auction in early December. The auction was called off, however, because another prospective purchaser appeared to be in sight.

For the second time, the expected sale did not materialize, although the public auction was not scheduled again.

The letter to the stockholders said the cost of maintaining the idle plant as it stands would "probably exceed $50,000 a year."

ALTHOUGH the price offered by Yoder & Frey "reflects a relatively low value for the fixed assets," the Board of Directors "recommends the acceptance of the offer because the limited use that may be made of the fixed assets greatly restricts the market. . ." the letter said.

At the time it was preparing to offer the plant for sale in early December, the firm of Yoder & Frey issued a brochure to prospective purchasers asserting that the plant and equipment are worth $4.2 million.

It said the Knowles plant sits on a 10-acre site and has 356,000

British Chief, Fanfani Vow Europe Unity

Macmillan In Italy To Pursue Efforts For Market Entry

ROME (AP)—British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan arrived in this birthplace of the European Common Market today and promptly joined Premier Amintore Fanfani of Italy in a pledge to pursue European unity.

Fanfani told his guest at the Rome airport the laborious European unity process had known pauses before France's veto of British entry into the six-nation community. He said these past halts had been followed by vigorous resumptions and he added that the ideal of European unity remained higher than ever in the thinking of Italy and Britain.

Macmillan, replying, said any troubles should be "a spur to further efforts toward European partnership and not rivalry."

Ahead of them were 48 hours of crucial talks on the Common Market, Britain's efforts to gain entry, and the over-all problem of Western unity.

Fanfani has pledged himself to work calmly and persistently for Britain's entry into the Common Market, and he in effect renewed that pledge as he greeted Macmillan.

"The Italian government and the overwhelming majority of Italian people salute you as a courageous pioneer of British participation in the process of European economic and political integration," Fanfani said.

"We are pleased to see that you are determined to reaffirm and extend a sound and friendly collaboration between our two countries directed to assure for our peoples greater benefits, to bring to Europe a more constructive future, to consolidate our common friendship with the United States. And to proceed together with our allies toward achievement of a secure peace."

Italian leaders are among the most outspoken in their desire to bring Britain into the community despite current unyielding opposition from France.

Political informants said Macmillan and Fanfani were expected to open their talks today with a search for policies to prevent further friction within the Western alliance.

Cooper Files For Solicitor Office Again

City Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper filed Thursday with the County Election Board, seeking renomination for a seventh term in the May 7 Democratic primaries.

One other new local candidate was listed overnight — William E. Davis, 713 Edwards Ave., entered for the Democratic nomination for Fourth Ward councilman.

Cooper, solicitor since 1952, has been engaged in the practice of law here 22 years. He is a member of the firm of Kapp & Cooper. He resides on North St., is married and has two children. He is a member of the Orchard Grove Community Methodist Church.

He was born in East Liverpool, a son of Mrs. Alice E. Cooper and the late Lee C. Cooper. He attended Westminster College in New Wilmington and was graduated from the University of Cincinnati College of Law.

Davis, an employe of the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co., is making his first bid for elective office. Married, he is the father of a daughter. The incumbent Fourth Ward councilman is Edward Massey, also a Democrat.

Meanwhile, the Leetonia Exempted Village School District filed an 8-mill levy for current operating expenses, seeking a place on the May ballot. The levy would be in effect five years.

The resolution filed by the Board of Education specified renewal of two existing levies — one of 6 mills and another of 2 mills—to constitute a tax of 8 mills.

Three new candidates were listed from Columbiana and East Palestine.

Lee Harrold entered for the Democratic nomination for mayor of Columbiana and Kenneth P. Brower filed for a seat on the Village Council. He also is a Democrat.

Harrold, 52, now is serving his first term as mayor. He is an employe of the Columbiana Milling & Supply Co. Brower, 46, is an employe of the National Rubber Machine Co. at Columbiana.

Paul J. Adams entered for the Republican nomination for a Council-at-large seat in East Palestine.

Parole Group Rejects Bid By Sheppard

Votes 4-0 Not To Recommend Any Change In Sentence

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's Pardon and Parole Commission has voted 4-0 not to recommend any change in the second-degree murder sentence of Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, former Bay Village osteopath convicted of killing his pregnant wife eight years ago.

The handsome father of one entered the Ohio prison system July 20, 1955. By law, he must serve a minimum of 10 years, less time for good behavior, before he can be considered for parole.

His attorneys petitioned for a clemency hearing, which was held Tuesday, in the hope of convicing commissioners, that Sheppard's medical services and conduct in prison have earned a reduction in sentence to manslaughter or commutation to time already served.

The commission's announcement today, following a day of rumors commissioners would deny clemency, said in part:

"In addition to his prison conduct of 7½ years, work and teaching assignments, the commission gave consideration to the total picture of (his being) a first offender. . . and his projected post-prison plans. In the judgment of the commission, the merits of this application do not warrant a modification of the legislative act fixing the penalty for this crime."

Dale Moon Sets Race For Palestine Council

EAST PALESTINE — F. Dale Moon, 123 W. North Ave., former councilman and a foreman at the Pittsburgh Chair Co., today announced he will be a candidate for Fourth Ward councilman in the Republican May 7 primary election.

Moon who has served as councilman-at-large and Council president, will face A. E. Berresford, who previously announced his candidacy. Charles Kelly, the incumbent, will seek nomination for councilman-at-large.

Canada Set To Retain Its Policies

Diefenbaker Gets Backing Following Criticisms By U.S.

OTTAWA (AP)—U.S. criticism will not change Canada's defense policies, Defense Minister Douglas Harkness told the House of Commons Thursday night. Opposition parties stepped up their attacks on the government but rallied behind Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker's charge that Washington was butting into Canadian affairs.

An emergency debate in Commons brought no attempt to topple Diefenbaker's Conservative government. But the groundwork clearly was being laid for an election campaign built around the nuclear weapons controversy.

The U.S. State Department raised the controversy to crisis pitch with a charge Wednesday that Canada, by failing to accept American nuclear arms, is dragging its feet in the defense of North America and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The debate took place as speculation mounted that Diefenbaker will dissolve Parliament and call for a general election on the nuclear arms issue. But the prime minister remained silent after accusing the State Department of "unwarranted intrusion" in Canada's affairs.

The emergency debate ended with neither side satisfied. The House was scheduled to return today to routine business.

The controversy was branching off into two phases:

Condemnation by both Diefenbaker's Conservatives and his opposition of the State Department for criticizing Canada's defense policies and for doing it in a press release.

A domestic political issue in which Diefenbaker is being criticized by the opposition on a charge of refusing to say clearly whether Canada will accept a nuclear role. In this, the opposition blames Diefenbaker for causing the U.S. criticism.

Harkness told Commons that the U.S. note presented an obstacle to agreement with the United States on accepting nuclear weapons.

But he drew jeers and laughs when he said Canada's policy is "clear and responsible." He said the government plans the same course it has followed in the past five years.

Cries of "shame" rose from the House floor when Diefenbaker reported that the State Department statement reached the Canadian foreign ministry only a half hour before it was released to the press.

Former Paper Firm's Property Here Is Sold

Purchase of the American Paper Products Co. building at E. 3rd and Walnut Sts. was announced today by Alfred C. Gloeckner.

Gloeckner, who operates Al's Atlantic Service at the same intersection, purchased the property, which has been idle since the envelope manufacturing firm moved its plant to Boardman about five years ago. The price was not disclosed.

The building, which covers half a block, also is bounded by High St. and Grove Alley. It has 177-foot frontage on Walnut St. and 103 feet on E. 3rd St. Gloeckner said plans now are being formed to use the building. He declined to reveal details. The transaction was handled by the W. E. Kaiser Agency.

Capital City Is Scene Of Air Disaster

Mideast Airlines Passenger And Air Force Craft Collide

ANKARA, Turkey (AP)—A passenger plane and a Turkish air force cargo plane collided over Ankara today. Police estimated at least 115 persons—including those on the ground—were killed.

Authorities identified the craft as a Middle East Airlines jet-prop Viscount with 15 persons aboard and an air force C47 Dakota. There was no report on how many were aboard the Dakota.

Police estimated 100 persons on the ground were killed when the planes came down in the center of the Turkish capital. Hundreds more were reported injured.

The MEA office confirmed that their plane out of Nicosia, Cyprus, crashed in Ulus Square, the center of the capital.

There were reports that the plane exploded in the air. Other reports said the plane collided in flight with a military transport plane.

FDR Jr. Gets Kennedy Nod In Commerce

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has selected Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., a former campaign lieutenant and son of the late president, to be undersecretary of commerce.

If the Senate confirms the nomination, the 48-year-old Roosevelt will succeed Edward Gudeman, who is returning to private business, in the $21,000-a-year post.

Announcement of Roosevelt's designation Thursday opened two avenues of speculation: That he might eventually succeed Luther H. Hodges as secretary of commerce or that is is being groomed for a Senate nomination from New York in 1964.

Newsmen asked Pierre Salinger White House press secretary, if there was any understanding that Roosevelt would move up as secretary should Hodges resign. Salinger said he knew of no such understanding and Hodges issued a statement describing Roosevelt as "a dynamic and gifted person."

Roosevelt was elected to Congress from New York in 1949 and served two terms and part of a third. He makes his home in Washington, where he has a foreign auto agency, but the White House listed the appointment as from the state of New York.

Khrushchev's Decision Tied To De Gaulle

Premier Breaks Off Latest Round Of A-Test Ban Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev's surprising decision to break off the latest round of nuclear test ban talks is regarded in high government quarters here as almost certainly a direct result of the split in the Atlantic alliance engineered by French President Charles de Gaulle.

The U.S.-British-Soviet discussions, which opened three weeks ago amid high hopes of agreement Thursday in New York. The Soviet Union proposed that the talks be ended subject to resumption in Geneva Feb. 12.

A U.S. statement said that negotiations for a test ban treaty must be continued and promised first priority would be given to the effort when an 18-nation disarmament committee, which includes the three nuclear powers, meets in Geneva.

Thus, on the record, the reaction of the U.S. government was neither optimistic nor pessimistic. But behind the scenes, the surprise at this sudden turn of events set in motion by the Soviet Union was coupled with a sharply critical attitude toward De Gaulle.

The reason is that officials believe Khrushchev may see an opportunity opening up for him to exploit the rift in the Western alliance and he does not want to limit his future range of action in any way by pushing forward a policy of agreement at this time.

One comment making the rounds in high government offices is that the failure of the test ban talks is the first concrete result in East-West relations of the new De Gaulle policy line on Europe.

Actually, De Gaulle's policy of pursuing a course in world affairs largely independent of that of the other North Atlantic Treaty Organization members is not in itself new. But in the last three weeks he has carried it to limits which have rocked the alliance to its foundations.

Queen's Tour Gets Off To Stormy Start

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — Looking slightly drawn, Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip were turned back for an unexpected overnight stay in Vancouver Thursday night after 20 hours in the air and only 3 hours sleep on their flight to the South Pacific.

A Vancouver hotel hastily swept out a suite that had been used for a business conference and decked it with flowers and special furnishings for the royal couple. Mothers whisked children from their beds, bundled them in sweaters and took them out for a glimpse of their sovereign.

Foul weather forced the royal plane to turn back twice on its flight to Fiji for the start of the royal couple's two-month tour of those islands, Australia and New Zealand.

A spokesman for British Overseas Airways Corp., said the queen and her party would depart later today but that weather could delay the flight further.

President's Farm Policies Still Rapped

Shift To Voluntary Controls Fails To Satisfy His Critics

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's shift from mandatory to voluntary production controls does not take the curse off his farm policies so far as many farm program critics are concerned.

In a special farm message Thursday, he made a major reversal in recommending voluntary measures where a year earlier he had called for mandatory limitations on production of surplus products. This change was made because of congressional opposition to compulsory methods—methods which would impose stiff penalties on non-cooperators.

But to organizations such as the American Farm Bureau Federation, which claims the largest members of any farm organization, much that is distasteful still remains.

Ole Miss May Face Another Court Battle

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — The University of Mississippi now faces the prospect of a second court battle over desegregation. Another Negro wants to join James H. Meredith as a student at the university.

Meredith's enrollment for the spring term went off quietly Thursday. But the university rejected the application of Dewey Greene Jr., 22, Greenwood, Miss., who attended Mississippi Vocational College for Negroes last year.

Greene was told he did not meet entrance requirements of the university.

An attorney for Greene said he would ask a federal court to order the school to accept Greene.

William Higgs, a white attorney representing the Gandhi Society for Human Rights, told a news conference late Thursday night that he would seek to have the university registrar, Robert B. Ellis, held in contempt of court for denying Greene's application.

Groundhog's Shadow Not Likely Saturday

The groundhog probably will not see his shadow Saturday because rain is forecast for afternoon or evening and the sun is not likely to break through cloudy skies.

According to tradition, if he doesn't see his shadow there will be an early spring. But it doesn't take a "weather prophet" to predict a messy weekend with warming temperatures expected to make slush of whatever light snow falls today, and chances of a light, freezing drizzle tonight, followed by the rain sometime tomorrow.

The Northeast Ohio forecast was for zero to 5 above last night but the downtown got a mild 20—and no one was complaining. Today's high will range between 22 and 30 or more and tonight's low 22 to 25. Saturday will be warmer.

Gales Batter Coast, Hawaii

Rain-Swollen Rivers Hit California; Hundreds Flee

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Rain swollen rivers surged through hundreds of evacuated homes in Northern California today, pushed against hurriedly built sandbag dikes in Reno, Nev., and blocked traffic on main east-west highway and rail routes across the Sierra.

Gale force winds pounded the Northern California Coast a third straight day and began an attack on the Oregon Coast.

The battering wind and rain was the power head of a chain of storms raging in the Pacific, from northwest of Hawaii to the mainland.

Gusts up to 70 miles an hour lashed the Hawaiian Islands Thursday closing Honolulu Harbor and forcing a jet liner carrying England's Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip from Edmonton, Alberta, to Honolulu to turn back to Vancouver, B.C.

In California five deaths were blamed on the storm. A boy was missing.

There was no immediate relief in sight. The Weather Bureau said the Pacific storm chain was driving eastward, its series of storm centers aimed at the Oregon and Washington coasts.

The storms meant snow for chilly western Washington where two inches was expected by this morning. The Yakima Valley area of central Washington, which received 14 inches of snow Thursday, expected an additional 8 to 10 inches. Snow was general in eastern Washington and many schools were closed throughout the state.

January Siege Severe

Milder Trend Predicted In Second Half Of Winter

January's Arctic antics may have not broken many weather records in this district, but the severe ice and snow siege should mean a milder second half for winter, Ed Copeland of Millport, U. S. Weather observer, said today.

The average temperature last month was a bone-numbing 19.3 degrees, well below the normal 27 degrees for January in his 71-year records.

But the month was only the seventh coldest January on Copeland books, and a June-like excursion compared to the 1.31 degree average of January 1918.

However, there were seven nights of zero degrees and below Copeland said, the mercury dipped to 23 below zero on Jan. 29, and made it up only as far as 48 degrees on Jan. 10 for the monthly high.

Rainfall amounted to 1.17 inches, less than half the norm of 2.8 inches for January, Copeland went on, declaring this was in a way fortunate, for had the full amount of precipitation fallen, we would probably have had another 12 inches of snow. One inch of rain amounts to 10 inches of snow, he said.

Seventeen inches of snow did fall, more than double the normal 8.3 inches, he said.

There were five partly cloudy days, 12 clear days and 14 cloudy days, providing 47 per cent sunshine compared to the normal 30 per cent sunshine for January.

The less than customary cloud

Liquidating Firm Submits Deal For Knowles Plant

Shareholders of the Edwin M. Knowles China Co., closed since late 1962, have been asked to vote on a proposal to sell the plant as an entity to Yoder & Frey, Inc., of Archbold, Ohio, a firm which specializes in sale of industrial real estate in liquidation of factories.

A letter explaining the proposal was sent Thursday to all the shareholders over the signature of William D. Christopher, Knowles' vice president and secretary. It asked the holders of the 5,000 shares of stock to indicate their decision by March 1.

THE LETTER to the shareholders said the offer from Yoder & Frey is contingent upon it being able to purchase at least 90 per cent of the stock.

A spokesman for Knowles said the Archbold company has indicated it "will make every effort to keep the plant intact and sell it as a going concern."

If Yoder & Frey cannot sell the plant as an entity "within a reasonable period of time" indications are that the firm will auction off the equipment and sell the buildings and land separately, the Knowles spokesman said.

The future of the big Newell plant has hung in the balance since last Sept. 5, when the officers announced the shareholders had been asked to meet Sept. 13 to vote on accepting or rejecting a plan for liquidating the corporation.

HOWEVER, at the meeting Sept. 13, the stockholders postponed the final decision until Sept. 27 to allow the officers an opportunity to negotiate further "with certain prospects" for purchase. The purchase did not materialize, however, and the stockholders later voted to allow the liquidation procedure to continue.

It was then that the firm of Yoder & Frey first was contracted with to sell the firm's assets at auction in early December. The auction was called off, however, because another prospective purchaser appeared to be in sight.

For the second time, the expected sale did not materialize, although the public auction was not scheduled again.

The letter to the stockholders said the cost of maintaining the idle plant as it stands would "probably exceed $50,000 a year."

ALTHOUGH the price offered by Yoder & Frey "reflects a relatively low value for the fixed assets," the Board of Directors "recommends the acceptance of the offer because the limited use that may be made of the fixed assets greatly restricts the market. . ." the letter said.

At the time it was preparing to offer the plant for sale in early December, the firm of Yoder & Frey issued a brochure to prospective purchasers asserting that the plant and equipment are worth $4.2 million.

It said the Knowles plant sits on a 10-acre site and has 356,000

Khrushchev's Decision Tied To De Gaulle

Premier Breaks Off Latest Round Of A-Test Ban Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev's surprising decision to break off the latest round of nuclear test ban talks is regarded in high government quarters here as almost certainly a direct result of the split in the Atlantic alliance engineered by French President Charles de Gaulle.

The U.S.-British-Soviet discussions, which opened three weeks ago amid high hopes of agreement Thursday in New York. The Soviet Union proposed that the talks be ended subject to resumption in Geneva Feb. 12.

A U.S. statement said that negotiations for a test ban treaty must be continued and promised first priority would be given to the effort when an 18-nation disarmament committee, which includes the three nuclear powers, meets in Geneva.

Thus, on the record, the reaction of the U.S. government was neither optimistic nor pessimistic. But behind the scenes, the surprise at this sudden turn of events set in motion by the Soviet Union was coupled with a sharply critical attitude toward De Gaulle.

The reason is that officials believe Khrushchev may see an opportunity opening up for him to exploit the rift in the Western alliance and he does not want to limit his future range of action in any way by pushing forward a policy of agreement at this time.

One comment making the rounds in high government offices is that the failure of the test ban talks is the first concrete result in East-West relations of the new De Gaulle policy line on Europe.

Actually, De Gaulle's policy of pursuing a course in world affairs largely independent of that of the other North Atlantic Treaty Organization members is not in itself new. But in the last three weeks he has carried it to limits which have rocked the alliance to its foundations.

Queen's Tour Gets Off To Stormy Start

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — Looking slightly drawn, Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip were turned back for an unexpected overnight stay in Vancouver Thursday night after 20 hours in the air and only 3 hours sleep on their flight to the South Pacific.

A Vancouver hotel hastily swept out a suite that had been used for a business conference and decked it with flowers and special furnishings for the royal couple. Mothers whisked children from their beds, bundled them in sweaters and took them out for a glimpse of their sovereign.

Foul weather forced the royal plane to turn back twice on its flight to Fiji for the start of the royal couple's two-month tour of those islands, Australia and New Zealand.

A spokesman for British Overseas Airways Corp., said the queen and her party would depart later today but that weather could delay the flight further.

President's Farm Policies Still Rapped

Shift To Voluntary Controls Fails To Satisfy His Critics

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's shift from mandatory to voluntary production controls does not take the curse off his farm policies so far as many farm program critics are concerned.

In a special farm message Thursday, he made a major reversal in recommending voluntary measures where a year earlier he had called for mandatory limitations on production of surplus products. This change was made because of congressional opposition to compulsory methods—methods which would impose stiff penalties on non-cooperators.

But to organizations such as the American Farm Bureau Federation, which claims the largest members of any farm organization, much that is distasteful still remains.

FDR Jr. Gets Kennedy Nod In Commerce

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has selected Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., a former campaign lieutenant and son of the late president, to be undersecretary of commerce.

If the Senate confirms the nomination, the 48-year-old Roosevelt will succeed Edward Gudeman, who is returning to private business, in the $21,000-a-year post.

Announcement of Roosevelt's designation Thursday opened two avenues of speculation: That he might eventually succeed Luther H. Hodges as secretary of commerce or that is is being groomed for a Senate nomination from New York in 1964.

Newsmen asked Pierre Salinger White House press secretary, if there was any understanding that Roosevelt would move up as secretary should Hodges resign. Salinger said he knew of no such understanding and Hodges issued a statement describing Roosevelt as "a dynamic and gifted person."

Roosevelt was elected to Congress from New York in 1949 and served two terms and part of a third. He makes his home in Washington, where he has a foreign auto agency, but the White House listed the appointment as from the state of New York.

Ole Miss May Face Another Court Battle

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — The University of Mississippi now faces the prospect of a second court battle over desegregation. Another Negro wants to join James H. Meredith as a student at the university.

Meredith's enrollment for the spring term went off quietly Thursday. But the university rejected the application of Dewey Greene Jr., 22, Greenwood, Miss., who attended Mississippi Vocational College for Negroes last year.

Greene was told he did not meet entrance requirements of the university.

An attorney for Greene said he would ask a federal court to order the school to accept Greene.

William Higgs, a white attorney representing the Gandhi Society for Human Rights, told a news conference late Thursday night that he would seek to have the university registrar, Robert B. Ellis, held in contempt of court for denying Greene's application.

Groundhog's Shadow Not Likely Saturday

The groundhog probably will not see his shadow Saturday because rain is forecast for afternoon or evening and the sun is not likely to break through cloudy skies.

According to tradition, if he doesn't see his shadow there will be an early spring. But it doesn't take a "weather prophet" to predict a messy weekend with warming temperatures expected to make slush of whatever light snow falls today, and chances of a light, freezing drizzle tonight, followed by the rain sometime tomorrow.

The Northeast Ohio forecast was for zero to 5 above last night but the downtown got a mild 20—and no one was complaining. Today's high will range between 22 and 30 or more and tonight's low 22 to 25. Saturday will be warmer.

Gales Batter Coast, Hawaii

Rain-Swollen Rivers Hit California; Hundreds Flee

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Rain swollen rivers surged through hundreds of evacuated homes in Northern California today, pushed against hurriedly built sandbag dikes in Reno, Nev., and blocked traffic on main east-west highway and rail routes across the Sierra.

Gale force winds pounded the Northern California Coast a third straight day and began an attack on the Oregon Coast.

The battering wind and rain was the power head of a chain of storms raging in the Pacific, from northwest of Hawaii to the mainland.

Gusts up to 70 miles an hour lashed the Hawaiian Islands Thursday closing Honolulu Harbor and forcing a jet liner carrying England's Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip from Edmonton, Alberta, to Honolulu to turn back to Vancouver, B.C.

In California five deaths were blamed on the storm. A boy was missing.

There was no immediate relief in sight. The Weather Bureau said the Pacific storm chain was driving eastward, its series of storm centers aimed at the Oregon and Washington coasts.

The storms meant snow for chilly western Washington where two inches was expected by this morning. The Yakima Valley area of central Washington, which received 14 inches of snow Thursday, expected an additional 8 to 10 inches. Snow was general in eastern Washington and many schools were closed throughout the state.

January Siege Severe

Milder Trend Predicted In Second Half Of Winter

January's Arctic antics may have not broken many weather records in this district, but the severe ice and snow siege should mean a milder second half for winter, Ed Copeland of Millport, U. S. Weather observer, said today.

The average temperature last month was a bone-numbing 19.3 degrees, well below the normal 27 degrees for January in his 71-year records.

But the month was only the seventh coldest January on Copeland books, and a June-like excursion compared to the 1.31 degree average of January 1918.

However, there were seven nights of zero degrees and below Copeland said, the mercury dipped to 23 below zero on Jan. 29, and made it up only as far as 48 degrees on Jan. 10 for the monthly high.

Rainfall amounted to 1.17 inches, less than half the norm of 2.8 inches for January, Copeland went on, declaring this was in a way fortunate, for had the full amount of precipitation fallen, we would probably have had another 12 inches of snow. One inch of rain amounts to 10 inches of snow, he said.

Seventeen inches of snow did fall, more than double the normal 8.3 inches, he said.

There were five partly cloudy days, 12 clear days and 14 cloudy days, providing 47 per cent sunshine compared to the normal 30 per cent sunshine for January.

Blower Demonstrated

Removal Of Snow Continued By City Crews

Chewing mounds of snow into a finely-pulverized mixture and then blowing it into the beds of waiting trucks, this rotary snow-plow was demonstrated for city officials Thursday as it cleaned the pavement on Bradshaw Ave.

The equipment, distributed by Tenos Bros. Co. of Pittsburgh, is shown at work on the upper end of the thoroughfare, near Ambrose Ave.

"I thought it did a very good job," Safety - Service Director Robert Owen commented today. "It loaded a truck completely in a minute and 20 seconds."

Several councilmen who observed the demonstration also expressed interest in the machine, the director said.

Owen said it appeared the machine could load now as fast as six or seven trucks could haul it away. However, only three trucks were available for the demonstration yesterday, he added.

The model shown at work, operated by a 36-horsepower engine, sells for about $3,000. The company also sells a 68-horsepower model and a 107-horsepower plow. The largest model cleans an eight-foot swath. It costs about $5,600.

The plow requires a piece of equipment such as a highlift or a front-end loader, on which it can be mounted. The plow's engine is used solely to power the mechanism that picks up the snow, pulverizes it and blows it into trucks.

The machine also had been scheduled to clean Minerva St. and Chester Ave., but those two jobs were called off for lack of time, Owen said. The Bradshaw Ave. work was three and a half hours late starting because of the problems created by parked cars, the director said.

Despite repeated warnings from the city, the snow-removal crew found many parked cars yesterday morning, particularly on the stretch near Walnut St. Some of the autos were removed after the owners were located. In other instances, the snow - removal crew worked around the parked cars.

The plow also was used for a time on Pennsylvania Ave., blowing mounded snow onto Columbian Park.

The city's crews are continuing work today, clearing snow from spots at the High School and at Memorial Auditorium. The snow - removal work also is scheduled to be completed on Bradshaw Ave., Pennsylvania Ave. and Broadway.

A Minerva dealer's "Travel-Loader" which broke down in a demonstration Wednesday was scheduled to return today following repairs.

City Autoist Cited In Crash

A city man was cited for driving while intoxicated after a two-car crash on the East Liverpool-Wellsville Super - road Thursday night and a Wellsville truck driver was injured when his vehicle skidded off Route 45 at West Point and struck a store.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said James E. Elliott Sr., 57, of 867 Fairview St., was driver of a 1959 sedan which rammed the rear of a halted auto operated by Robert D. White Jr., 24, of 7th Ave., LaCroft, about 11:15 p.m. on the super-road just north of Wellsville.

White, headed north, had halted his 1957 coach to make a left turn, the officers said. There was considerable damage to the front of Elliott's auto, and minor damage to the rear of White's, according to the patrol.

Elliott posted a $2,000 property bond in Municipal Court for a hearing Monday morning.

Frank Sims, 34, of 2200 Clark Ave., Wellsville, was treated at City Hospital after his truck, headed south on Route 45, skidded off Route 45, went down an embankment and struck the store building owned by Edward Bergman.

Sims suffered bruises of the left knee. Damage to the truck and building was minor, the patrol reported. Sims was charged with driving at a speed in excess of safe conditions.

The mishap occurred at 2:45 p.m.

Car Victim Improves

ROGERS — Jerry Lee Young, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Young, was in "fairly good" condition today at Salem City Hospital where he was admitted Wednesday after he was struck by a car on Route 7 here. The boy suffered head and shoulder injuries.

Weather

cover contributed to the low temperatures, allowing the warm air to rise from the ground areas, Copeland explained.

With winter half over on Feb. 1, the previous cold weather should now be balanced by some warmer weather, he added.

If the temperatures had been normal for the first part of the season, Copeland said the district could expect as much winter after Feb. 1 as before.

However, with the below normal situation of December and January when temperatures were 7 degrees below average, the district should get some relief in a week and not later than the middle of February, the weather observer predicted.

Rainfall should start to increase above normal not later than March 1 to help the dry situation which has prevailed since last spring, he said.

January was the coldest since 1945, and Jan. 24 was the fourth day in Copeland's book on which the temperature did not rise over zero all day, he said in commenting on the unusual weather of last month.

The previous three days were Feb. 9-10-11, 1899, which also had seven nights of below-zero readings.

Jan. 29 was the fifth coldest day on his books with a minus 23 degrees. The coldest day is recorded for Jan. 13, 1912, with a minus 28 degrees, he said.

The jump of the mercury to a high of 27 degrees on Jan. 29 was a remarkable 50-degree rise in one day, he added.

Council To Meet

ROGERS — Council will meet Monday night at 7 for regular business and discussion of a proposed installation of a second traffic signal at Route 7 and 154, Mayor Robert McCreary said.

Elkton Group Picks Officer

Mrs. Ralph Moore was named secretary-treasurer of the ladies auxiliary of Elkton Boy Scout Troop 108 at a meeting Tuesday with Mrs. Lloyd Neville. She succeeds Mrs. Ernie Gonter, who resigned.

Plans were made to hold a public card party March 1 at the Elkton School. Other fund-raising projects were aired to finance summer camp for the scouts.

Next meeting is Feb. 26 with Mrs. Delmar Harrold. The annual Blue and Gold banquet for the troop and Cub Pack 108 will be held Feb. 28 at the school.

Mrs. Robert Whitten was hostess for a family surprise fete Tuesday night honoring the birthday anniversary of her mother, Mrs. Harold Dixon.

The Elkrun Farm Bureau Council met Monday night with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Neville. Lunch was served. Next meeting is Feb. 25 with Mr. and Mrs. Dean Bowman.

Miss Mary Jo Sturgeon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sturgeon, and sophomore at American University at Washington, is spending a semester vacation with a companion, Miss Tricia Regan, at West Palm Beach, Fla.

Kim Apple and Marcia Glenn were Wednesday luncheon guests of Candy Blazer, who observed her fourth birthday anniversary.

Mrs. George Souders is convalescing at Salem City Hospital after an operation.

The first nonstop transatlantic jet airplane flight was Sept. 22, 1950, when Col. David C. Shilling flew from England to Limestone, Maine, in 10 hours and one minute.

Human Cargo

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Four persons have filed suit to stop cab drivers from carrying parcels, packages, freight and messages.

The plaintiffs described themselves as persons who have been unable to obtain cab services because the cabs were hauling cargo. They said in their suit that the cab companies were not living up to the terms of their permits by hauling cargo.

The population of the United States is about 186,500,000.

CONTACT LENSES

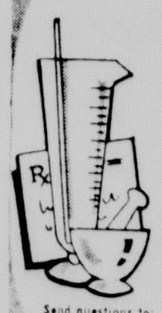

Q. I have heard many people say that you can go blind from wearing contact lenses. Is this true? Will carrots help improve eyesight?

A. Some people have difficulty in adjusting to contact lenses but we are not aware of medical evidence that they cause blindness. Many competent ophthalmologists (eye specialists) recommend contact lens under certain conditions and we feel certain that they would not do so if blindness might be the result. However, some people insist on wearing contact lenses in spite of undue irritation and this could be dangerous. Carrots contain vitamin A. Lack of vitamin A causes so-called "night blindness," a condition in which dark adaptation is slowed. If one is deficient in vitamin A, eating carrots would probably help. Otherwise, vitamin A has no special effect on eyesight.

NOSE DROPS

Q. I have hay fever. Nose drops helped at first but now it seems that drops and sprays just cause more clogging. Should I switch to another brand of drops?

A. No. Stop using drops and sprays and see a physician. With continued use, tolerance to such preparations gradually builds up to a point where the more you use the greater the obstruction. See your family doctor or an allergist. If your trouble is due to allergy, specific treatment will help. There may be associated sinus disease or some type of nasal deformity. Such conditions can only be treated by a physician.

Lisbon Board Will Submit 2 Levies In May

LISBON — Lisbon School District residents will vote on a 16-mill renewal levy and an additional 3-mill operating levy on the May 7 ballot, the Board of Education announced today after a lengthy special session Tuesday evening when the action was deemed necessary.

With school operating costs running in the red the past year by approximately $31,000, the board decided to place the total of 19 mills on the primary ballot although the revenue will not be realized until 1964.

The system actually ended 1962 with a $42,000 deficit, but some $11,000 will becoming from the state in the form of reimbursement for the purchase last year of two new school buses and Title III money.

Supt. Oliver H. Payne, who discussed the financial difficulties with the board, said the district started the year with an $11,000 debt.

The additional 3-mill levy would produce approximately $36,000 annually for five years, 1964-68, and it would appear on the tax duplicates for the years 1963-67.

Supt. Payne pointed out that the debt will increase even to a greater amount this calendar year. Miscalculations at several levels are blamed for the deficit.

It was also pointed out that building fund money, derived from the last $350,000 bond issue, cannot be used for operating expenses.

Erection of the new addition at McKinley School and the purchase of the administration building and its furnishings has no bearing on the current deficit, he said. Law does not permit funds from bond issues for building purposes to be transferred for operating costs.

The shortage, then, is in the costs of salaries, services, textbooks, library equipment and that type of expenditures in the operation of the system.

There is no question that part of the money derived from an additional 3-mill levy would be earmarked for salaries. The amount taken for salaries would be a figure that would still permit part of the funds obtained to be used in eliminating the debt, Payne said.

Supt. Payne said, "the board thoroughly considered the entire situation at this special meeting, and decided that there is no alternative but to inform the public of the situation and to ask for more funds to provide the present educational program.

"The board will continue to study ways to reduce expenses without denying the students the educational program they now have," he added.

Lisbon Board Will Submit 2 Levies In May

LISBON — Lisbon School District residents will vote on a 16-mill renewal levy and an additional 3-mill operating levy on the May 7 ballot, the Board of Education announced today after a lengthy special session Tuesday evening when the action was deemed necessary.

With school operating costs running in the red the past year by approximately $31,000, the board decided to place the total of 19 mills on the primary ballot although the revenue will not be realized until 1964.

The system actually ended 1962 with a $42,000 deficit, but some $11,000 will becoming from the state in the form of reimbursement for the purchase last year of two new school buses and Title III money.

Supt. Oliver H. Payne, who discussed the financial difficulties with the board, said the district started the year with an $11,000 debt.

The additional 3-mill levy would produce approximately $36,000 annually for five years, 1964-68, and it would appear on the tax duplicates for the years 1963-67.

Supt. Payne pointed out that the debt will increase even to a greater amount this calendar year. Miscalculations at several levels are blamed for the deficit.

It was also pointed out that building fund money, derived from the last $350,000 bond issue, cannot be used for operating expenses.

Erection of the new addition at McKinley School and the purchase of the administration building and its furnishings has no bearing on the current deficit, he said. Law does not permit funds from bond issues for building purposes to be transferred for operating costs.

The shortage, then, is in the costs of salaries, services, textbooks, library equipment and that type of expenditures in the operation of the system.

There is no question that part of the money derived from an additional 3-mill levy would be earmarked for salaries. The amount taken for salaries would be a figure that would still permit part of the funds obtained to be used in eliminating the debt, Payne said.

Supt. Payne said, "the board thoroughly considered the entire situation at this special meeting, and decided that there is no alternative but to inform the public of the situation and to ask for more funds to provide the present educational program.

"The board will continue to study ways to reduce expenses without denying the students the educational program they now have," he added.

No One Else Knows Either

The agricultural issue has been thrown into congressional controversy again with a new administration proposal.

This one is less restrictive than it might be. But like all its predecessors and successors, it has a grave flaw.

The proposal will not solve the agricultural problem. It will not be solved during the Kennedy administration. It wasn't solved during the Eisenhower, Truman, Roosevelt, Hoover, Coolidge, Harding and Wilson administrations, either.

The problem is chronic and permanent in the United States, as it is in every industrial country. The heart and core of industrialism is controlled production. When industrial production gets out of kilter, the country is in trouble.

If too much is produced, prices sag and we have deflation.

If too little is produced, prices soar and we have inflation.

The trick is to keep supply and demand in reasonable relationship, which means stimulating demand so it stays just far enough ahead of supply to keep the economy moving forward.

THAT'S THE trick everybody tries to master in agriculture. But success has eluded not only agriculturalists, who have no way to get together on production totals and only inadequate ways to stimulate demand, but government, which has tried to help them control their output.

There never has been a farm program under any administration that could be called a success. Agriculture has boomed only in wartime. The rest of the time, due to ever-increasing efficiency of production, it has been bogged down in overproduction and smothered in surpluses.

When government under both political parties has tried to control production it was charged with interference. Yet it is indisputable that if government tried to pull out of the problem there would be a strenuous demand for it to get back into the thick of the problem immediately, despite the common idea that it is to blame for everything that goes wrong.

No one in politics knows how to stay on the good side of farmers, but everybody with farmer constituents dread their wrath. This is the background of the black art of farm politics, in which the office-seeker must carry water on both shoulders, keep his chin up, with one ear to the ground, avert inflation for other prices while inflating farm prices and plow a straight furrow around Robin Hood's barn.

THE YOUNG MEN of the Kennedy administration, including Secretary of Agriculture Orville Lothrop Freeman, who will be 45 next May, won't solve the farm problem in their time, either. They don't know how.

No one else knows how either, though periodically the country's so-called "farm stumbled on to something magical, which always turns out to be just another scheme to help farmers control production to keep prices high, the same as their far better organized brothers in industry.

And who pays? All consumers, just the same way as all consumers pay the overhead for everything else.

This Could Help U.S., Too

With the same tight-lipped half-smile and patter of applause they reserve for a good catch, English cricketeers are doing something about a good proposal for their national game.

The absurd distinction between professionals and amateurs is being wiped out.

By tradition, the two English groups—the "gentlemen" and the professionals—couldn't even dress in the same pavilion or take tea together after the match. Professionals were not supposed to address amateurs by first names, or enter the field by the same gate. Silly?

No sillier than rules about amateurs and professionals in the United States—rules that put the mighty Jim Thorpe under a cloud as an Olympic athlete because he had played for money—rules that cause amateurs to retain their amateur standing by taking the cost of living under the table instead of over the table.

Jack Kramer, former tennis amateur and now a tennis promoter has been quoted to this effect: "I am positive no amateur has won a set in the Davis Cup Challenge Rounds since, well, since 1920 at least. In my time, the winners of Challenge Round matches have been already signed to professional contracts more often than not."

The dodge that permits amateur athletes to support themselves without drawing pay is the expense account. It is a thin subterfuge, because an amateur who has no other means of support yet lives high on the hog for years in some instances is obviously being paid for his efforts, even if not in cold, taxable cash.

The English are coming to grips with the problem, belatedly. Even more belatedly, Americans should come to grips with it. Distinctions between athletes, other than those required to limit participation in college sports, should be dropped.

The United States should be represented in all international competition by its best athletic talent. How its athletes get their means of support is beside the point. Some of them are even lucky enough to be born rich.

Chinese Reds In Cuba?

The continuation of Russian military units in Cuba and their rumored buildup is causing conjecture and increasing concern in many circles.

Theories are advanced in explanation. Investigations are launched on both the political and congressional level. But, as yet, no answer to the question "Why?" has been forthcoming.

Could it be that the Kennedy administration knows the answer but, because of the nature of the answer, prefers to suffer attacks upon itself rather than speak out?

Could it be that Russia, having master-minded the conquest of Cuba and established a beachhead in the Americas, has no intention of letting it go by default to the Chinese Reds?

Castro, with his tirades and bombast, his threats of force and pleas for revolution, often sounds more like a brother of Mao Tse-tung than of his Russian counterpart, Nikita Khrushchev.

The apparent failure of Anastas Mikoyan's mission to Cuba may have convinced the Russians that Soviet troops are needed there to keep them from losing the island—not to the West but to the left wing of Communism?

Could President Kennedy and his advisers know this—and likewise be reconciled to it?

Liberated!

By Truman Twill

It's always interesting to read think-pieces about what's in store for white collar workers.

You get to thinking about what you do and wondering how it would be handled by automation. Anything is possible. They have computers that compose poetry, which is more than most typewriter jockeys in newspaper offices can do.

I discovered automation at the white collar level before it was taken to heart by cost-cutters in business offices. As time goes on, I become proud of this mental break-through because I came to grips with the principle of electronic computers before these gadgets came on the scene.

My thought was that mechanical means could be substituted for many laborious thought processes that took place in management; that automatic decisions could be made quicker and slicker than personal decisions.

This was based on the observable fact that the bulk of on-the-spot decisions made by management are of the yes-no-maybe type. The decision-maker has a 50-50 chance to be right if he chooses at random.

Yet because of a multitude of distracting influences he may not give himself this chance to be right half the time, because he weighs pros and cons with inadequate scales. This cuts his probable percentage.

Other distracting factors enter into it—bad digestion, disorderly private life, pains in the head, trouble with the golf swing, distractions, hangovers, personal dislikes, nepotism, extraneous pressures, politicking, social climbing and plain failure to know what he's doing.

It had become plain to me that an ordinary slot machine rigged to come up YES, NO or MAYBE would be a satisfactory substitute for that highest echelon of white-collar workers—decision-makers.

Automatic decisions would be the equal of the fouled-up decisions available from the ordinary run of management. The machines needed to make them could be amortized over a long period of years, written off, juggled and rejuggled in a way that would be out of the question for the executives they replaced.

Moreover—and this was to have been the payoff—the idea would cool off the enthusiasm of top management for pell-mell mechanization, which the problem before automation began to loom large. It was mechanization when geniuses figured out how to turn up the heat by pulling a handle. It is automation when they figure out how to sell a sucker a $150 whingus to pull the handle when the temperature sinks below 72.

My converted slot machine would have been mechanization. It would be automation if anyone on the premises could make the slot machine produce a YES, NO or MAYBE by pushing a button beneath the ledge on his desk.

Don't laugh, schoolmates. They're already making policy in Washington with computers. Everywhere you look, wherever you listen, little wheels are spinning and little gears are whining, simulating what we once liked to think went on in our brain boxes when we made decisions.

They're starting low on the ladder to kick off the human element. But eventually they will go to the top. And when it happens, the climactic decision to get rid of the old-fashioned human decision-makers at the top will be made by an electronic computer—one that a computer jockey forgot to turn off before he left the premises to check in at the nearest unemployment compensation office because he had been liberated from further earning power that very day by a computer he never even saw.

The reason aluminum is used so much for cooking utensils is the fact that it is very light in weight, has high heat capacity, excellent heat conductivity, durability and resistance to corrosion.

We Don't Like To Be Pessimists, But . . .

Jimmy Hoffa Faces Busy Future

By Victor Riesel

Jimmy Hoffa's newest status symbol is a luxurious private airplane. He and some of his colleagues have too many places to go to wait on common commercial flying machines. There are rendezvous with courtrooms. And with grand juries. At least five of these investigations are extremely active right now — in New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, Nashville and Miami.

Victor Riesel

Federal attorneys in five districts from coast to coast are preparing spectacular trials of already indicted high Teamster leaders.

These are evidence that, regardless of Hoffa's newest propaganda counter-offensive, the Justice Department has not the slightest intention of easing up its efforts to unravel the Teamsters financial dealings.

The department will not comment officially—but there is nothing to the report that the probes will be called off.

THOUSANDS of Teamsters checks have been examined by special federal units. Many hundreds have been traced. Typical is the effective work of the Los Angeles Grand Jury. It has been looking deeply into a mystery-man intimate of Jimmy Hoffa's.

He is Nate Stein, known to all the boys in Beverly Hills, Las Vegas and Broadway. On Oct. 18, 1962, he was arrested by the FBI on charges of influencing a witness before the McClellan rackets committee. That witness was Joel Benton.

Swashbuckling Stein is out on $10,000 bond awaiting grand jury action.

Characteristic of the Justice Department's unraveling technique is the case of witness Joel Benton. He received three checks from Local 299, Hoffa's home local in Detroit. Also one check from Local 41, Kansas City, one of whose officials already has been convicted of embezzling local union funds.

THESE PAYMENTS totaled $4,400. According to Benton's own affidavit to the McClellan committee, he got the money for counting trucks on the Los Angeles to San Francisco route. Also for public relations work.

Benton said that Nate Stein had come to him and announced that his "friend Jimmy Hoffa wanted a confidential count made of trucks operating between San Francisco and Los Angeles on both the coast and inland routes."

Benton said he counted the trucks personally.

During the McClellan committee hearings Hoffa was asked why he chose Stein.

"What was in Mr. Nate Stein's background . . . that made you select him to check trucks on the West Coast?"

Hoffa replied that he had known "Nate" for a number of years and that since he was on the West Coast Hoffa selected him.

Then Hoffa was asked if he had teamsters on the West Cooast who could count trucks. Hoffa said yes.

WHY DID Hoffa not get them to count trucks, came the query," . . . . rather than the public relations man for the Sands Hotel in Las Vegas?"

Hoffa replied that he reserved the right to run his union with the approval of his executive board.

That's the background of one phase of the Los Angeles probe. A few days ago the grand jury subpoenaed Hoffa. It wants to discuss the incident further with him.

A few days after the subpoena, Hoffa began blasting the Department of Justice. He charged that it was persecuting him and pressuring bonding companies into refusing to bond Teamsters officials.

Observers know, of course, that it is now illegal for a union official involved in the handling of funds to be unbonded.

Hoffa's insinuation, therefore, appears to be that Attorney General Bob Kennedy is trying to unseat him by subterfuge.

ACTUALLY THIS is real bright of Hoffa. He has started a fight he can't lose. To know why, one needs to know something about the intricacies of the bonding business.

Up to Jan. 1, 1963, the surety companies had to bond each union official individually, by name. This became an expensive business. There are some 5,000 Teamsters officials, for example. To look into each one's background became a major operation. Union officials with bad records obviously could not get covered. So many companies were chary.

But since Jan. 1st, there is no longer any need of individual probes by the insurance people. The firms can bond the unions by position—president, secretary, treasurer, etc — instead of by name. This is chancy, but far less expensive.

Thus there are hundreds of companies, including big ones, not members of the Surety Association of America, which will gladly take the Teamsters' business.

There's about a quarter of a million dollars a year in it. Hoffa and his union will be bonded. Many Teamster locals are having no difficulty getting such bonds. Hoffa then will be able to turn to the public once again and say once again he has beaten back the Justice Department. Champ, once more.

But Jimmy H. will keep his private plane and crew on the ready. He knows his Teamsters will be kept busy on this front for quite a while.

DeGaulle, The Realist

By David Lawrence

French Leader Pursues Primary Duties First

There's no use getting mad at Gen. de Gaulle just because he is a realist in a world of anxiety or just because he doesn't see things the way Washington or London sees them.

David Lawrence

The French president has lately been the subject of some rather severe criticism as a stubborn, self-centered individual who would rather mess up NATO and the whole defense plan of the West than give up his concept of a united Europe based on continental supremacy without Britain.

Naturally this irritates many people and causes intimations to be given in White House circles that maybe Gen. de Gaulle is living in the 19th century.

Yet Gen. De Gaulle has merely stood firm on the principle that a leader's first obligation is to take care of his own countrymen. He hasn't swallowed the propaganda of the supranationalists who think the many nationalists in Europe can be best governed by a single council of state.

It was on Jan. 14 that Gen. de Gaulle gave comprehensive answers to questions asked at a press conference in Paris. He has not modified his position since. While his views were not accepted with enthusiasm in Washington or in London, they were by no means opposed fundamentally to allied solidarity or to the organization of a common defense against the Communist menace.

HIS STATEMENT explained that France would welcome Britain into the Common Market on terms of equality, but not as a special partner with trade concessions for the benefit of its home agriculture and its commonwealth associates.

Nor did Gen. de Gaulle exclude the strategy of a common military defense. He said:

"In these conditions, no one in the world—particularly no one in America—can say if, where, when, how and to what extent the American nuclear weapons would be employed to defend Europe.

"Moreover, this does not in the least prevent the American nuclear weapons, which are the most powerful of all, from remaining the essential guarantee of world peace. . . . but it remains that the American nuclear power does not necessarily and immediately meet all the eventualities concerning Europe and France.

"Thus, principles and realities combine to lead France to equip itself with an atomic force of its own. This does not at all exclude, of course, the combination of the action of this force with the action of the similar forces of its allies."

REFERRING to the agreement reached at Nassau between President Kennedy and Prime Minister Macmillan, the De Gaulle statement said:

"It is a question of constituting a so-called multilateral atomic force, in which Britain would turn over the weapons it has and will have and in which the Americans would place a few of their own.

"This multilateral force is assigned to the defense of Europe and is under the American NATO command. It is nevertheless understood that the British retain the possibility of withdrawing their atomic weapons for their own use should supreme national interest seem to them to demand it.

"As for the bulk of American nuclear weapons, it remains outside the multilateral force and under the direct orders of the president of the United States. . . .

"It is true that we, too, can theoretically retain the ability to take back in our hands, in the supreme hypothesis, our atomic weapons incorporated in the multilateral force. But how could we do it in practice during the unheard of moments of the atomic apocalypse? . . .

"In sum, we will adhere to the decision we have made: To construct and, if necessary, to employ our atomic force ourselves. And that without refusing, of course, cooperation, be it technological or strategic, if this cooperation is, on the other hand, desired by our allies."

HERE IS a nation's leader who is thinking primarily of his own country and who is not willing to entrust its safety to the trigger finger of an executive in another country.

Gen. de Gaulle thinks this would entail "a web of liaisons, transmissions and interferences within itself, and, on the outside, a ring of obligations such that, if an integral part were suddenly snatched from it, there would be a strong risk of paralyzing it just at the moment, perhaps, when it should act."

The lesson of all this is that there is need for soul-searching conferences and consultation without the emotional discords that arise when the head of a foreign state is described as egoistic just because he thinks of the future of his own people and is unwilling to entrust their safety to a strategy that relies wholly on missiles or, to a large extent, looks on conventional weapons as obsolete.

Yet the possibility of a big war in Europe without nuclear weapons remains, as always, on a continent in which the Soviet Union today has the biggest standing army in the world.

The Winds Of Change

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

The winds of change are blowing down the wrong alley.

Only 17 days ago President Kennedy wound up his State of the Union message to Congress in happy optimism.

He closed on a "note of hope" because the "winds of change are blowing" and he said he welcomed them.

He had just finished saying how dandy the Western alliance was doing, that it was moving to a "unity of purpose" in every "sphere of activity."

But at the very moment of his optimism, that very day, there was a sudden wind-shift.

The President got an unexpected, frigid blast from French President Charles de Gaulle who picked that day to make a joke of unity.

Now the winds are blowing through the Western alliance like a tornado through a farm shack in Arkansas.

No one at this minute knows whether the North Atlantic Treaty Organization will collapse and the European Common Market with it.

Only a month ago both looked like happy symbols of Western togetherness and the cement that would bind the allies even closer.

Now, while the wind-blown Europeans scratch and turn, looking for new cement, even the United States has begun using its own home-made bellows.

U.S. officials Thursday said a cutback in American military forces in Europe is a definite possibility unless De Gaulle mends his ways.

British Prime Minister Macmillan has denounced the Frenchman and the other Common Market members of NATO are sputtering in anger at him.

And all because the tall De Gaulle, as usual, operated with the grandeur of Louis XIV dealing with the peasants.

It wasn't only that he told the British they couldn't come into the Common Market or the Americans that he wanted no part of Kennedy's idea of a multination-al nuclear force for NATO.

It was the way he did it, the contempt.

He made it plain he wanted Europe for Europeans only and considered the British a bunch of outsiders, hardly more than errand boys for the Americans.

As for Americans—he left the implication that from now on he's boss-man of Europe and he'd be happy with the Americans out.

This was very windy, all by itself.

If the Russians attacked Western Europe right now it's the Americans who would have to save it and France. De Gaulle doesn't have a force worthy of the name in any showdown that counted.

So, with him, at the moment it's more mouth than muscle.

In time, if France alone had nuclear weapons and there was no more NATO, then France would be the dominant force in Western Europe.

But Thursday Macmillan told the House of Commons Britain isn't going to let De Gaulle have any monopoly at all.

If the Europeans should now show signs of rallying around De Gaulle, which would be rallying against Britain and the United States, the American Congress would start its own windstorm.

The feeling in the Capitol then, almost surely, would be to pull out of Europe. From that would come a return to isolation.

This Could Help U.S., Too

With the same tight-lipped half-smile and patter of applause they reserve for a good catch, English cricketeers are doing something about a good proposal for their national game.

The absurd distinction between professionals and amateurs is being wiped out.

By tradition, the two English groups—the "gentlemen" and the professionals—couldn't even dress in the same pavilion or take tea together after the match. Professionals were not supposed to address amateurs by first names, or enter the field by the same gate. Silly?

No sillier than rules about amateurs and professionals in the United States—rules that put the mighty Jim Thorpe under a cloud as an Olympic athlete because he had played for money—rules that cause amateurs to retain their amateur standing by taking the cost of living under the table instead of over the table.

Jack Kramer, former tennis amateur and now a tennis promoter has been quoted to this effect: "I am positive no amateur has won a set in the Davis Cup Challenge Rounds since, well, since 1920 at least. In my time, the winners of Challenge Round matches have been already signed to professional contracts more often than not."

The dodge that permits amateur athletes to support themselves without drawing pay is the expense account. It is a thin subterfuge, because an amateur who has no other means of support yet lives high on the hog for years in some instances is obviously being paid for his efforts, even if not in cold, taxable cash.

The English are coming to grips with the problem, belatedly. Even more belatedly, Americans should come to grips with it. Distinctions between athletes, other than those required to limit participation in college sports, should be dropped.

The United States should be represented in all international competition by its best athletic talent. How its athletes get their means of support is beside the point. Some of them are even lucky enough to be born rich.

Chinese Reds In Cuba?

The continuation of Russian military units in Cuba and their rumored buildup is causing conjecture and increasing concern in many circles.

Theories are advanced in explanation. Investigations are launched on both the political and congressional level. But, as yet, no answer to the question "Why?" has been forthcoming.

Could it be that the Kennedy administration knows the answer but, because of the nature of the answer, prefers to suffer attacks upon itself rather than speak out?

Could it be that Russia, having masterminded the conquest of Cuba and established a beachhead in the Americas, has no intention of letting it go by default to the Chinese Reds?

Castro, with his tirades and bombast, his threats of force and pleas for revolution, often sounds more like a brother of Mao Tse-tung than of his Russian counterpart, Nikita Khrushchev.

The apparent failure of Anastas Mikoyan's mission to Cuba may have convinced the Russians that Soviet troops are needed there to keep them from losing the island—not to the West but to the left wing of Communism?

Could President Kennedy and his advisers know this—and likewise be reconciled to it?

Liberated!

By Truman Twill

It's always interesting to read think-pieces about what's in store for white collar workers.

You get to thinking about what you do and wondering how it would be handled by automation. Anything is possible. They have computers that compose poetry, which is more than most typewriter jockeys in newspaper offices can do.

I discovered automation at the white collar level before it was taken to heart by cost-cutters in business offices. As time goes on, I become proud of this mental break-through because I came to grips with the principle of electronic computers before these gadgets came on the scene.

My thought was that mechanical means could be substituted for many laborious thought processes that took place in management; that automatic decisions could be made quicker and slicker than personal decisions.

This was based on the observable fact that the bulk of on-the-spot decisions made by management are of the yes-no-maybe type. The decision-maker has a 50-50 chance to be right if he chooses at random.

Yet because of a multitude of distracting influences he may not give himself this chance to be right half the time, because he weighs pros and cons with inadequate scales. This cuts his probable percentage.

Other distracting factors enter into it—bad digestion, disorderly private life, pains in the head, trouble with the golf swing, distractions, hangovers, personal dislikes, nepotism, extraneous pressures, politicking, social climbing and plain failure to know what he's doing.

It had become plain to me that an ordinary slot machine rigged to come up YES, NO or MAYBE would be a satisfactory substitute for that highest echelon of white-collar workers—decision-makers.

Automatic decisions would be the equal of the fouled-up decisions available from the ordinary run of management. The machines needed to make them could be amortized over a long period of years, written off, juggled and rejuggled in a way that would be out of the question for the executives they replaced.

Moreover—and this was to have been the payoff—the idea would cool off the enthusiasm of top management for pell-mell mechanization, which the problem before automation began to loom large. It was mechanization when geniuses figured out how to turn up the heat by pulling a handle. It is automation when they figure out how to sell a sucker a $150 whingus to pull the handle when the temperature sinks below 72.

My converted slot machine would have been mechanization. It would be automation if anyone on the premises could make the slot machine produce a YES, NO or MAYBE by pushing a button beneath the ledge on his desk.

Don't laugh, schoolmates. They're already making policy in Washington with computers. Everywhere you look, wherever you listen, little wheels are spinning and little gears are whining, simulating what we once liked to think went on in our brain boxes when we made decisions.

They're starting low on the ladder to kick off the human element. But eventually they will go to the top. And when it happens, the climactic decision to get rid of the old-fashioned human decision-makers at the top will be made by an electronic computer—one that a computer jockey forgot to turn off before he left the premises to check in at the nearest unemployment compensation office because he had been liberated from further earning power that very day by a computer he never even saw.

The reason aluminum is used so much for cooking utensils is the fact that it is very light in weight, has high heat capacity, excellent heat conductivity, durability and resistance to corrosion.

Jimmy Hoffa Faces Busy Future

By Victor Riesel

Jimmy Hoffa's newest status symbol is a luxurious private airplane. He and some of his colleagues have too many places to go to wait on common commercial flying machines. There are rendezvous with courtrooms. And with grand juries. At least five of these investigations are extremely active right now — in New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, Nashville and Miami.

Victor Riesel

Federal attorneys in five districts from coast to coast are preparing spectacular trials of already indicted high Teamster leaders.

These are evidence that, regardless of Hoffa's newest propaganda counter-offensive, the Justice Department has not the slightest intention of easing up its efforts to unravel the Teamsters financial dealings.

The department will not comment officially—but there is nothing to the report that the probes will be called off.

THOUSANDS of Teamsters checks have been examined by special federal units. Many hundreds have been traced. Typical is the effective work of the Los Angeles Grand Jury. It has been looking deeply into a mystery-man intimate of Jimmy Hoffa's.

He is Nate Stein, known to all the boys in Beverly Hills, Las Vegas and Broadway. On Oct. 18, 1962, he was arrested by the FBI on charges of influencing a witness before the McClellan rackets committee. That witness was Joel Benton.

Swashbuckling Stein is out on $10,000 bond awaiting grand jury action.

Characteristic of the Justice Department's unraveling technique is the case of witness Joel Benton. He received three checks from Local 299, Hoffa's home local in Detroit. Also one check from Local 41, Kansas City, one of whose officials already has been convicted of embezzling local union funds.

THESE PAYMENTS totaled $4,400. According to Benton's own affidavit to the McClellan committee, he got the money for counting trucks on the Los Angeles to San Francisco route. Also for public relations work.

Benton said that Nate Stein had come to him and announced that his "friend Jimmy Hoffa wanted a confidential count made of trucks operating between San Francisco and Los Angeles on both the coast and inland routes."

Benton said he counted the trucks personally.

During the McClellan committee hearings Hoffa was asked why he chose Stein.

"What was in Mr. Nate Stein's background . . . that made you select him to check trucks on the West Coast?"

Hoffa replied that he had known "Nate" for a number of years and that since he was on the West Coast Hoffa selected him.

Then Hoffa was asked if he had teamsters on the West Cooast who could count trucks. Hoffa said yes.

WHY DID Hoffa not get them to count trucks, came the query," . . . . rather than the public relations man for the Sands Hotel in Las Vegas?"

Hoffa replied that he reserved the right to run his union with the approval of his executive board.

That's the background of one phase of the Los Angeles probe. A few days ago the grand jury subpoenaed Hoffa. It wants to discuss the incident further with him.

A few days after the subpoena, Hoffa began blasting the Department of Justice. He charged that it was persecuting him and pressuring bonding companies into refusing to bond Teamsters officials.

Observers know, of course, that it is now illegal for a union official involved in the handling of funds to be unbonded.

Hoffa's insinuation, therefore, appears to be that Attorney General Bob Kennedy is trying to unseat him by subterfuge.

ACTUALLY THIS is real bright of Hoffa. He has started a fight he can't lose. To know why, one needs to know something about the intricacies of the bonding business.

Up to Jan. 1, 1963, the surety companies had to bond each union official individually, by name. This became an expensive business. There are some 5,000 Teamsters officials, for example. To look into each one's background became a major operation. Union officials with bad records obviously could not get covered. So many companies were chary.

But since Jan. 1st, there is no longer any need of individual probes by the insurance people. The firms can bond the unions by position—president, secretary, treasurer, etc — instead of by name. This is chancy, but far less expensive.

Thus there are hundreds of companies, including big ones, not members of the Surety Association of America, which will gladly take the Teamsters' business.

There's about a quarter of a million dollars a year in it. Hoffa and his union will be bonded. Many Teamster locals are having no difficulty getting such bonds. Hoffa then will be able to turn to the public once again and say once again he has beaten back the Justice Department. Champ, once more.

But Jimmy H. will keep his private plane and crew on the ready. He knows his Teamsters will be kept busy on this front for quite a while.

DeGaulle, The Realist

By David Lawrence

French Leader Pursues Primary Duties First

There's no use getting mad at Gen. de Gaulle just because he is a realist in a world of anxiety or just because he doesn't see things the way Washington or London sees them.

David Lawrence

The French president has lately been the subject of some rather severe criticism as a stubborn, self-centered individual who would rather mess up NATO and the whole defense plan of the West than give up his concept of a united Europe based on continental supremacy without Britain.

Naturally this irritates many people and causes intimations to be given in White House circles that maybe Gen. de Gaulle is living in the 19th century.

Yet Gen. De Gaulle has merely stood firm on the principle that a leader's first obligation is to take care of his own countrymen. He hasn't swallowed the propaganda of the supranationalists who think the many nationalists in Europe can be best governed by a single council of state.

It was on Jan. 14 that Gen. de Gaulle gave comprehensive answers to questions asked at a press conference in Paris. He has not modified his position since. While his views were not accepted with enthusiasm in Washington or in London, they were by no means opposed fundamentally to allied solidarity or to the organization of a common defense against the Communist menace.

HIS STATEMENT explained that France would welcome Britain into the Common Market on terms of equality, but not as a special partner with trade concessions for the benefit of its home agriculture and its commonwealth associates.

Nor did Gen. de Gaulle exclude the strategy of a common military defense. He said:

"In these conditions, no one in the world—particularly no one in America—can say if, where, when, how and to what extent the American nuclear weapons would be employed to defend Europe.

"Moreover, this does not in the least prevent the American nuclear weapons, which are the most powerful of all, from remaining the essential guarantee of world peace. . . . but it remains that the American nuclear power does not necessarily and immediately meet all the eventualities concerning Europe and France.

"Thus, principles and realities combine to lead France to equip itself with an atomic force of its own. This does not at all exclude, of course, the combination of the action of this force with the action of the similar forces of its allies."

REFERRING to the agreement reached at Nassau between President Kennedy and Prime Minister Macmillan, the De Gaulle statement said:

"It is a question of constituting a so-called multilateral atomic force, in which Britain would turn over the weapons it has and will have and in which the Americans would place a few of their own.

"This multilateral force is assigned to the defense of Europe and is under the American NATO command. It is nevertheless understood that the British retain the possibility of withdrawing their atomic weapons for their own use should supreme national interest seem to them to demand it.

"As for the bulk of American nuclear weapons, it remains outside the multilateral force and under the direct orders of the president of the United States. . . .

"It is true that we, too, can theoretically retain the ability to take back in our hands, in the supreme hypothesis, our atomic weapons incorporated in the multilateral force. But how could we do it in practice during the unheard of moments of the atomic apocalypse? . . .

"In sum, we will adhere to the decision we have made: To construct and, if necessary, to employ our atomic force ourselves. And that without refusing, of course, cooperation, be it technological or strategic, if this cooperation is, on the other hand, desired by our allies."

HERE IS a nation's leader who is thinking primarily of his own country and who is not willing to entrust its safety to the trigger finger of an executive in another country.

Gen. de Gaulle thinks this would entail "a web of liaisons, transmissions and interferences within itself, and, on the outside, a ring of obligations such that, if an integral part were suddenly snatched from it, there would be a strong risk of paralyzing it just at the moment, perhaps, when it should act."

The lesson of all this is that there is need for soul-searching conferences and consultation without the emotional discords that arise when the head of a foreign state is described as egoistic just because he thinks of the future of his own people and is unwilling to entrust their safety to a strategy that relies wholly on missiles or, to a large extent, looks on conventional weapons as obsolete.

Yet the possibility of a big war in Europe without nuclear weapons remains, as always, on a continent in which the Soviet Union today has the biggest standing army in the world.

The Winds Of Change

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

The winds of change are blowing down the wrong alley.

Only 17 days ago President Kennedy wound up his State of the Union message to Congress in happy optimism.

He closed on a "note of hope" because the "winds of change are blowing" and he said he welcomed them.

He had just finished saying how dandy the Western alliance was doing, that it was moving to a "unity of purpose" in every "sphere of activity."

But at the very moment of his optimism, that very day, there was a sudden wind-shift.

The President got an unexpected, frigid blast from French President Charles de Gaulle who picked that day to make a joke of unity.

Now the winds are blowing through the Western alliance like a tornado through a farm shack in Arkansas.

No one at this minute knows whether the North Atlantic Treaty Organization will collapse and the European Common Market with it.

Only a month ago both looked like happy symbols of Western togetherness and the cement that would bind the allies even closer.

Now, while the wind-blown Europeans scratch and turn, looking for new cement, even the United States has begun using its own home-made bellows.

U.S. officials Thursday said a cutback in American military forces in Europe is a definite possibility unless De Gaulle mends his ways.

British Prime Minister Macmillan has denounced the Frenchman and the other Common Market members of NATO are sputtering in anger at him.

And all because the tall De Gaulle, as usual, operated with the grandeur of Louis XIV dealing with the peasants.

It wasn't only that he told the British they couldn't come into the Common Market or the Americans that he wanted no part of Kennedy's idea of a multinational nuclear force for NATO.

It was the way he did it, the contempt.

He made it plain he wanted Europe for Europeans only and considered the British a bunch of outsiders, hardly more than errand boys for the Americans.

As for Americans—he left the implication that from now on he's boss-man of Europe and he'd be happy with the Americans out.

This was very windy, all by itself.

If the Russians attacked Western Europe right now it's the Americans who would have to save it and France. De Gaulle doesn't have a force worthy of the name in any showdown that counted.

So, with him, at the moment it's more mouth than muscle.

In time, if France alone had nuclear weapons and there was no more NATO, then France would be the dominant force in Western Europe.

But Thursday Macmillan told the House of Commons Britain isn't going to let De Gaulle have any monopoly at all.

If the Europeans should now show signs of rallying around De Gaulle, which would be rallying against Britain and the United States, the American Congress would start its own windstorm.

The feeling in the Capitol then, almost surely, would be to pull out of Europe. From that would come a return to isolation.

Safety Record For Crucible Exceeds Industry Average

Employes of the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Company compiled a safety record much better than the average for the steel industry last year, J. G. Gill, manager of the Midland Works, said today.

Announcing the 1963 program, Gill pointed out that while Midland Works' performance was better than the industry average in 1962, it was not good enough.

Dr. E. H. North Jr., director of health and safety, said "We have achieved a record of which we may feel proud. According to a severity rate comparison, the industry averaged approximately 750 days of lost time per million manhours worked while we recorded an average of 176 days per million manhours."

Midland Works employes were also better than the average of the industry in the amount of lost-time accidents per million manhours worked. Ed Troutman, works supervisor of safety, said, "industry averaged 3.5 lost-time accidents per million manhours worked while we averaged two."

The safety program this year is tailor-made, designed especially for the Midland Works, based on an analytical study of accident experience over the past three years.

Causes and per cent of total disabling accidents for the three-year period were: Failure to follow safe work procedures, 29 per cent; material handling errors, 26 per cent; falls, 19 per cent; falling material or flying objects, 15 per cent, and miscellaneous, 11 per cent.

Failure to follow established safe work procedures while handling material accounted for approximately 51 per cent of the total disabling injuries and falls accounted for 20 per cent during the three-year period.

These three areas accounted for 71 per cent of all disabling injuries.

Under the safety program, supervisors will conduct five-minute safety meetings with employes during the early part of each turn. They will also make individual safety contacts at least once a week to instruct employes in safe job procedures as outlined in the job safety analyses.

Records of individual safety contacts will be maintained on the employes' safety contact record cards. When unsafe conditions are identified, they are to be eliminated without delay.

"Be Accident Free In '63" is the theme for this year's safety program.

Farmers Got Higher Prices But Paid More During '62

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farm prices lost buying power during the last 12 months despite the fact that they went up a little.

What happened was that the prices of goods and services farmers buy increased more than the prices they receive for their crops and livestock.

An Agriculture Department report shows that prices received by farmers in mid-January were 1 per cent higher than a year earlier but prices paid by farmers were 2.3 per cent higher.

This means that a dollar's worth of farm products sold in January of this year would buy about 98.7 cents worth of other goods and services compared with a dollar's worth a year ago.

The level of prices paid by farmers in January were at a record high of 311 per cent of the 1910-14 average. Prices farmers received for farm products in January were 244 per cent above the 1910-14 average, far short of the record high of 313 per cent set in February 1951.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Agricultural Advisory Commission has endorsed President Kennedy's farm message urging new voluntary control plans for feed grains and milk and one to solve a cotton marketing problem.

The 24-member commission was appointed by Kennedy to advise his administration on farm matters.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department estimates that U.S. supplies of food fats and oils for the 1962-63 marketing year which began Oct. 1 will be a record 16.6 billion pounds, an increase of 5 per cent over the previous year.

At the same time, use is expected to rise about 8 per cent to a new high, with record exports accounting for most of the increase.

These prospects indicate the carryover stocks of all food fats on Oct. 1, 1963, will be down about 5 per cent from the 2.6 billion pounds, including shortening, salad and cooking oils, on the same date last year.

Progress Seen In New York's Paper Blackout

NEW YORK (AP) — Mediation meetings in the 56-day-old newspaper blackout resume at City Hall today after a one-day break to allow both sides time for reflection.

The latest official word on the situation from Mayor Robert F. Wagner was: "We have made progress but it must be emphasized in all candor that the parties are still a long way from settling this dispute."

"Two critical issues remain unresolved," Wagner said. He did not list the issues.

The mayor's mediation schedule today included meetings with subcommittees of the Publishers Association of New York City, which represents the closed nine major newspapers, and of the striking Local 6 of the AFL-CIO International Typographical Union.

Wagner has said that after hearing reports from these subcommittees he will decide on his next steps in efforts to break the deadlock.

Jury Picking Launched In Murder Trial

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—Selection of a jury began today in the first-degree murder trial of former Ohio University professor Gene Isaac Stees, whose wife's battered body was found in a lake last October.

Seventy-five persons were summoned as veniremen for the trial of the 30-year-old Stees, accused of fatally beating his pregnant wife, Helen, 30, with a crowbar. Police say Stees admitted killing his estranged wife, then putting her body in a steel drum and dumping it into nearby Dow Lake last Oct. 20.

Divers recovered the body from the lake Oct. 26 after Stees told them he had dumped the drum there.

At the time of the slaying, authorities said, Mrs. Stees was living with her parents in Ashland. She had planned to meet her husband in Columbus, then go to Athens for an Ohio University football game. She was never seen alive again.

Stees was arrested during the search for his wife and at first denied seeing her. Later, police said, the baldish professor admitted the killing.

Stees was charged at first with cohabitation for allegedly living with another woman who he called his wife at a farm two miles south of New Marshfield.

The "other woman," who was not identified, was not involved in the slaying and had returned to her husband in Florida before the killing. She may be included in a list of witnesses in the case.

Sheriff Harold E. Shields said Stees had said that he argued with his wife over another woman and about their two small children.

These prospects indicate the carryover stocks of all food fats on Oct. 1, 1963, will be down about 5 per cent from the 2.6 billion pounds, including shortening, salad and cooking oils, on the same date last year.

Progress Seen In New York's Paper Blackout

NEW YORK (AP) — Mediation meetings in the 56-day-old newspaper blackout resume at City Hall today after a one-day break to allow both sides time for reflection.

The latest official word on the situation from Mayor Robert F. Wagner was: "We have made progress but it must be emphasized in all candor that the parties are still a long way from settling this dispute."

"Two critical issues remain unresolved," Wagner said. He did not list the issues.

The mayor's mediation schedule today included meetings with subcommittees of the Publishers Association of New York City, which represents the closed nine major newspapers, and of the striking Local 6 of the AFL-CIO International Typographical Union.

Wagner has said that after hearing reports from these subcommittees he will decide on his next steps in efforts to break the deadlock.

Jury Picking Launched In Murder Trial

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—Selection of a jury began today in the first-degree murder trial of former Ohio University professor Gene Isaac Stees, whose wife's battered body was found in a lake last October.

Seventy-five persons were summoned as veniremen for the trial of the 30-year-old Stees, accused of fatally beating his pregnant wife, Helen, 30, with a crowbar. Police say Stees admitted killing his estranged wife, then putting her body in a steel drum and dumping it into nearby Dow Lake last Oct. 20.

Divers recovered the body from the lake Oct. 26 after Stees told them he had dumped the drum there.

At the time of the slaying, authorities said, Mrs. Stees was living with her parents in Ashland. She had planned to meet her husband in Columbus, then go to Athens for an Ohio University football game. She was never seen alive again.

Stees was arrested during the search for his wife and at first denied seeing her. Later, police said, the baldish professor admitted the killing.

Stees was charged at first with cohabitation for allegedly living with another woman who he called his wife at a farm two miles south of New Marshfield.

The "other woman," who was not identified, was not involved in the slaying and had returned to her husband in Florida before the killing. She may be included in a list of witnesses in the case.

Sheriff Harold E. Shields said Stees had said that he argued with his wife over another woman and about their two small children.

IRS Agent Testifies In Tax File Case

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—An Internal Revenue Service agent has testified in U.S. District Court he saw an IRS secretary pass papers to Ted Maison, accused of securing confidential IRS files for labor leader Richard T. Gosser.

Gosser, 62, vice president of the United Auto Workers Union; Maison and Don Pinciotti, Gosser's administrative assistant, are on trial on conspiracy charges, accused of obtaining information on Gosser's income tax for the years 1957, 1958 and 1959.

The IRS agent, Charles M. Marr of Cleveland, confirmed the account given Thursday by the former secretary, Mrs. Patricia Niedomski, who told of copying IRS reports and passing them to Maison.

She identified Maison, 44, as being in the numbers business.

The shapely, 35-year-old Mrs. Niedomski appeared close to tears several times as she told of accepting $200 from Maison in $50 installments. She said she was heavily in debt and Maison had co-signed and helped make payments on a $1,000 bank loan.

Under cross examination, the former secretary was asked if she had discussed with Maison other IRS cases, including one involving former Gov. Michael V. DiSalle.

She replied that the DiSalle case was public already when she talked about it.

Mrs. Niedomski was named co-conspirator in the case but was not indicted.

CLEVELAND (AP) — A man tentatively identified as Leslie Aldridge, about 40, of Cleveland, was killed today by a hit-skip motorist who was arrested 10 minutes later.

Police said the motorist crashed a red light and was on the left side of the dividing line. A witness jumped into a passing car and chased the fleeing motorist until police arrived.

Man In Crash Still Critical

A West Virginia man, who survived two earlier mishaps, continued to battle for his life today at City Hospital as Pennsylvania State Police try to determine whether he was alone in his car when it smashed into a utility pole Wednesday night.

James Davis, 59, of Phillipi remained in "critical" condition with possible internal injuries. A retired miner, he has survived a mine cavein and injuries suffered when struck by a train, police said they were told.

State Police at Carnegie said they were told by Davis' wife that another man was scheduled to drive the compact. However, ambulance attendants told the officers Davis was the only one at the scene when they arrived.

Officers said the car smashed into a utility pole slightly less than a mile from the West Virginia line on Route 30. Tracks indicated the car drove directly into the pole, officers said.

square feet of floor space. The plant has a capacity of 50,000 dozen pieces of dinnerware per week, it added.

Here are the relevant parts of the Knowles letter to the stockholders:

"The real estate with the improvements thereon, the equipment and machinery have not been disposed of and there is no present prospect for the sale of these fixed assets as a going concern. If a purchaser is not found for the real estate, the cost of maintaining it, considering plant guards, insurance, utilities and taxes, will probably exceed $50,000 a year.

-:-

"YOUR officers have negotiated and the Board of Directors has approved a contract under which the Industrial Division of Yoder & Frey, Inc., will purchase the shares of your corporation, provided 90 per cent of the shares are delivered to Mellon National Bank & Trust Co. as escrow agent on or before March 1, 1963.

"While this price reflects a relatively low value for the fixed assets of the corporation, your Board of Directors recommends the acceptance of the offer because the limited use that may be made of the fixed assets greatly restricts the market therefor and the expense involved to maintain the real estate until it is sold will substantially diminish the corporation's liquid assets.

"IF YOU desire to accept the offer for your stock, you should execute the assignment on the back of the certificate or certificates you hold or execute a separate stock power and promptly mail the certificate or certificates and separate stock power, if you use it, to: Corporate Trust Division, Mellon National Bank & Trust Co., Mellon Square, Pittsburgh, 30, Pa.

"Whether you endorse the certificates or execute a separate stock power your signature must be guaranteed by a bank or stock broker.

"Please complete the enclosed transmittal letter and mail it with your certificate or certificates in the enclosed envelope as promptly as possible. Stock transfer taxes will be deducted from the amount you receive for your shares.

"In the event that less than 90 per cent of the corporation's shares are delivered to the Mellon National Bank & Trust Co. on or before March 1, 1963, the certificate for your shares will be returned to you promptly thereafter."

150 'Trailerites' Face Penalty On Overdue License

LISBON — An estimated 150 trailer owners in Columbiana County have not obtained 1963 licenses, according to County Auditor Kenneth Bell's office, which reported 519 licenses issued compared to 670 in 1962.

Unless the 1962 trailer owners have moved out of the county, they face penalties for not obtaining the licenses, Bell's office said.

A total of 503 licenses were sold before the Wednesday deadline, and 16 more were issued Thursday with the $1 penalty fee added.

For every day of delinquency an owner is fined up to a maximum of $25. A survey is planned in a few weeks to check on whether trailer owners have valid licenses.

The rhinoceros is a notably belligerent animal and the reason for this is the fact that it has very poor eyesight. The rhino has good hearing and smell, but because he can't see, he stupidly thinks it's perfectly all right to charge any object — a human being, another animal, even a tree.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Parents Can Help Child Concentrate

Often a mother writes me of the child, usually in the early grades, who doesn't do or finish simple written assignments unless the teacher stands right over him and tells him what to do next. The number of these cases seems to have greatly increased. Perhaps the increase of workbooks and materials which have blanks for the child to fill in helps explain the growth of the problem. Suppose it's your child with this difficulty. Improvise a simple page of material for him to fill in at home. Slowly and clearly explain to him how to do it. Then leave him to do it alone and require him to finish it.

Dr. Garry Meyers

YOU MIGHT PURCHASE at the store a workbook similar to the one he uses at school. Also, you might have him copy very carefully a few sentences you provide. Then you would want to be sure he copied it neatly and correctly.

Furthermore, when you show him how to do something with his hands for fun or to do some simple jobs about the home, see that he follows your instructions.

However, a child who follows fairly well directions given to him alone, may not do it as well if the instruction is given to a number of other children at the same time. At school this may be the child whose teacher must keep telling him what to do next.

At home you could almost match a school experience by practicing your child at following directions as you give them to him together with a few other children present. This you could do in teaching this small group a new game of how to make some new kind of creation with their hands.

—:—

YOU COULD improvise all sorts of activities in which you give the directions before they begin to carry them out. Sample: "Hand on knees, hands above heads, clap hands" and the like.

You parents with children from tnree to six could do much to get them ready to follow directions then and after entering school.

You could improve all sorts of directions like the following or better ones, but be sure to complete the directions before the child begins to carry them out: (1) touch your nose; then your chin (2) clap your hands in front of you, then above your head (3) put this book on the table; bring me a pencil, then close the door.

Tapping can afford good practice. Tap three times and have the child do the same. Put four blocks, books, boxes, pans or dishes in a row.

Tap in such orders as these and have the child do as you did: 1, 2, 3, 4—3, 4, 1, 2—4, 2, 3, 1 and so on. You could vary this in all sorts of ways and degrees of difficulty.

OF COURSE, NO practice for cultivating good habits of concentration is better than reading to the child a great deal from the time he begins to listen for a few moments till long past his entering school.

Just remember, too, that in the normal course of living in the family, your child three, seven or twelve will have the opportunity to follow simple and harder directions many times a day. Be sure to have his wholehearted attention then before you make a command or request of him.

My bulletins, "Why Read to Baby and Young Child" and "The Child Who Doesn't Concentrate" may be had by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

175 Attend Trinity Church Dinner For Anniversary

A new type of ministry was discussed by the Rev. Oto E. Albright of Pittsburgh at the 118th anniversary dinner of the Trinity United Presbyterian Church Wednesday night in the social rooms. About 175 attended.

As youth minister of the Pittsburgh Presbytery, he said "the sidewalk is his parish." His interdenominational work with teenagers gives him an opportunity to assist with juvenile offenders. He said adults are responsible for creating situations which result in delinquency. Declaring social work goes just so far, he said the answer for juvenile problems is not more, money, education, jobs or recreation, but complete conversion in their way of life.

Emphasizing that environment and rearing play an important part, Rev. Albright said crime repetition is due to a low state of morals and young people lack spiritual stability. He closed with the thought, "teen-agers make the world of today—not of tomorrow." William Sturgeon introduced the guest.

The Rev. M. Rudolph Miller, minister, gave the invocation. Rowland Kaufman led group singing with his wife at the piano. Birthday anniversary greetings were sung for Rev. Miller and Mrs. James Fortiner.

The Rev. H. Gene Toot, associate minister, conducted devotions, reading Scripture from Matt. 25 and offering prayer. The Rev. D. R. Salisbury, rector of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, gave the benediction.

Among guests introduced were the Rev. James Burton, superintendent of the Community Rescue Mission, and his wife.

Paul M. James and H. Ray Laughlin were in charge of reservations. The speakers' table was highlighted with an arrangement of red carnations and white tapers in 13-branch gold candelabra. Red hearts and streamers were used on the other tables.

Mrs. Helen Allison, dinner chairman, was assisted by Mrs. Eva Reynolds, Mrs. Nancy Forsythe, Mrs. Grace Lawrence, Mrs. Mary Jane Foulks, Mrs. Mabel Thomas, Mrs. Jennie Mackall and Mrs. Evelyn Garner.

The diningroom committee was comprised of Mrs. Charlotte Smith, Mrs. Isabel Allison, Mrs. Dorothy White, Mrs. Mary Wolfe, Mrs. Mary Lou Haugh, Mrs. Pat Gauron, Mrs. Pat Bennett, Miss Helen Hannahs, Mrs. Mildred Porter and Miss Linda Porter.

YOU MIGHT PURCHASE at the store a workbook similar to the one he uses at school. Also, you might have him copy very carefully a few sentences you provide. Then you would want to be sure he copied it neatly and correctly.

Furthermore, when you show him how to do something with his hands for fun or to do some simple jobs about the home, see that he follows your instructions.

However, a child who follows fairly well directions given to him alone, may not do it as well if the instruction is given to a number of other children at the same time. At school this may be the child whose teacher must keep telling him what to do next.

At home you could almost match a school experience by practicing your child at following directions as you give them to him together with a few other children present. This you could do in teaching this small group a new game of how to make some new kind of creation with their hands.

—:—

YOU COULD improvise all sorts of activities in which you give the directions before they begin to carry them out. Sample: "Hand on knees, hands above heads, clap hands" and the like.

You parents with children from tnree to six could do much to get them ready to follow directions then and after entering school.

You could improve all sorts of directions like the following or better ones, but be sure to complete the directions before the child begins to carry them out: (1) touch your nose; then your chin (2) clap your hands in front of you, then above your head (3) put this book on the table; bring me a pencil, then close the door.

Tapping can afford good practice. Tap three times and have the child do the same. Put four blocks, books, boxes, pans or dishes in a row.

Tap in such orders as these and have the child do as you did: 1, 2, 3, 4—3, 4, 1, 2—4, 2, 3, 1 and so on. You could vary this in all sorts of ways and degrees of difficulty.

OF COURSE, NO practice for cultivating good habits of concentration is better than reading to the child a great deal from the time he begins to listen for a few moments till long past his entering school.

Just remember, too, that in the normal course of living in the family, your child three, seven or twelve will have the opportunity to follow simple and harder directions many times a day. Be sure to have his wholehearted attention then before you make a command or request of him.

My bulletins, "Why Read to Baby and Young Child" and "The Child Who Doesn't Concentrate" may be had by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

175 Attend Trinity Church Dinner For Anniversary

A new type of ministry was discussed by the Rev. Oto E. Albright of Pittsburgh at the 118th anniversary dinner of the Trinity United Presbyterian Church Wednesday night in the social rooms. About 175 attended.

As youth minister of the Pittsburgh Presbytery, he said "the sidewalk is his parish." His interdenominational work with teenagers gives him an opportunity to assist with juvenile offenders. He said adults are responsible for creating situations which result in delinquency. Declaring social work goes just so far, he said the answer for juvenile problems is not more, money, education, jobs or recreation, but complete conversion in their way of life.

Emphasizing that environment and rearing play an important part, Rev. Albright said crime repetition is due to a low state of morals and young people lack spiritual stability. He closed with the thought, "teen-agers make the world of today—not of tomorrow." William Sturgeon introduced the guest.

The Rev. M. Rudolph Miller, minister, gave the invocation. Rowland Kaufman led group singing with his wife at the piano. Birthday anniversary greetings were sung for Rev. Miller and Mrs. James Fortiner.

The Rev. H. Gene Toot, associate minister, conducted devotions, reading Scripture from Matt. 25 and offering prayer. The Rev. D. R. Salisbury, rector of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, gave the benediction.

Among guests introduced were the Rev. James Burton, superintendent of the Community Rescue Mission, and his wife.

Paul M. James and H. Ray Laughlin were in charge of reservations. The speakers' table was highlighted with an arrangement of red carnations and white tapers in 13-branch gold candelabra. Red hearts and streamers were used on the other tables.

Mrs. Helen Allison, dinner chairman, was assisted by Mrs. Eva Reynolds, Mrs. Nancy Forsythe, Mrs. Grace Lawrence, Mrs. Mary Jane Foulks, Mrs. Mabel Thomas, Mrs. Jennie Mackall and Mrs. Evelyn Garner.

The diningroom committee was comprised of Mrs. Charlotte Smith, Mrs. Isabel Allison, Mrs. Dorothy White, Mrs. Mary Wolfe, Mrs. Mary Lou Haugh, Mrs. Pat Gauron, Mrs. Pat Bennett, Miss Helen Hannahs, Mrs. Mildred Porter and Miss Linda Porter.

Fifth Union May Join In Paper Strike

CLEVELAND (AP) — A fifth union—the Machinists—today may join the 64-day-old strike against the city's two daily newspapers, according to an official of that union.

James Iafelice, business agent for Machinists Local 439, said he expected to receive strike sanction from the international. Such sanction has been granted by the local and district, he said.

The contract for the Machinists expired at midnight Thursday. Nine union members work at the morning Plain Dealer and five at the afternoon Press and News.

Wages and working conditions are the main issues in their dispute.

Negotiations were to resume this morning at City Hall between the Newspaper Guild and management.

After a 2½-hour bargaining session Thursday, Mayor Ralph S. Locher said no substantial progress was made toward settlement of the thorny union security issue.

Management reportedly rejected a demand for negotiators for the Press and News. They sought a contract clause requiring 9 out of 10 new employes in the newspaper's commercial department to join the union or pay an agency fee equal to union dues.

Meanwhile Joseph Saunders, Plain Dealer telegraph editor, said he has sent a letter to President Kennedy urging that the President send a team of three congressmen to Cleveland to study the issues.

Cleveland's Store Sales Reported Down

CLEVELAND (AP) — Department store sales in downtown Cleveland last week dropped below the corresponding year - ago level for the fourth straight week.

The Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland reported today that in the week ended Jan. 26 city department store sales fell 21 per cent below the similar 1962 figure. A drop of 8 per cent was recorded for the four-week volume.

A bank economist attributed the poor showing to a combination of severely cold weather and the newspaper strike—now in its 10th week.

Bad weather also was blamed for the 15 per cent drop last week in store sales in the metropolitan area, which includes Lake and Cuyahoga counties. For the four weeks ended Saturday, sales for the metropolitan area were 1 per cent below the corresponding year ago level.

St. Clairsville Banker Kills Self With Pistol

MORRISTOWN, Ohio (AP) — The body of a St. Clairsville bank executive, shot to death with a pistol at his side, was found early today in a parked car two miles east of here.

The Belmont County coroner ruled suicide in the death of Harry Glenn Zimmerman 57, vice president of Belmont County National Bank, whose body was found in his locked car.

Two suicide notes were by Zimmerman's side, the coroner said. One said, "I'm sorry, forgive me, goodbye." The other note, badly bloodstained, was being examined by police chemists.

Highway patrolmen, who found the body, said that Zimmerman had been shot twice in the head. Also in the car was a .38-caliber pistol with two empty shells and three unfired bullets.

Faulty Stove's Fumes Fatal To Man And Woman

NEW MARTINSVILLE, W. Va. (AP)—Fumes from a faulty stove were believed to have caused the asphyxiation Thursday night of a man and woman in a New Martinsville home.

The victims were identified by sheriff's deputies as Mrs. Charles C. Ullom, 57, of Malvern Ohio, and Junior Thompson, 38.

Mrs. Harold Britten, 47, was in critical condition in a New Martinsville hospital where her husband was admitted earlier in the week after suffering a heart attack.

Mrs. Ullom was a sister of Mrs. Britten and had come to New Martinsville to be with her during her husband's illness. Thompson was identified as a nephew of Mrs. Britten. He lived with the Britten family.

Neighbors became alarmed this morning when Thompson failed to meet a friend to accompany him to work. Police were called and the front door was forced. The two women were found in a bedroom. Thompson's body was in the bathroom.

Police said they understood the stove had been installed only yesterday.

Criminal Trials Set To Begin On Monday

LISBON — The first criminal trial in the January term of Common Pleas Court will begin Monday with Jerry Molner of Columbiana R. D. 2 facing a jury. He was indicted by the January Grand Jury for driving while intoxicated.

He was cited by the State Highway Patrol and pleaded not guilty at arraignment Jan. 21.

Judge Joel H. Sharp will preside over criminal trials for the term. Molner's is expected to be completed in one day.

A venire of 15 prospective jurors was called earlier to report Monday at 9 a. m.

Truck Damaged In Minor Mishap

A halted bakery truck was damaged when grazed by a Columbiana County ash-spreading vehicle Thursday on Armstrong Ln. about 45 feet off St. Clair Ave., police reported.

The county-owned dump truck, operated by Howard T. Huston, 52, of Calcutta, bumped a 1963 panel truck owned by the Donaldson Baking Co. of Canton and operated by Arthur H. Sweet, 23, of Canton, officers said. There was damaged to the left rear of the bakery truck. The county truck was undamaged, officers said.

Sweet told police he stopped because his load of baked goods shifted as he turned off St. Clair onto Armstrong. He said the county truck, attempting to pass, grazed his vehicle. Huston told police he was attempting to get around the halted truck and avoid going into an open ditch on the left side of the road when his truck grazed the halted vehicle.

West Virginia Hits Business Peak In 1962

CHARLESTON (AP) — Although business slumped in December, 1962 will go down as the best economic year in West Virginia's history, the State Chamber of Commerce said Thursday.

Only 7 of the chamber's 22 monthly indicators improved in December from November levels and much of that was seasonal, the chamber said in its monthly business index.

For the year as a whole, 17 of the 22 indicators surpassed their 1961 performance, the report added.

In reviewing the year's activities the chamber said most "indicators started with a rush, reached a high level plateau in the spring, dipped slightly in late summer and climbed again in the fall prior to the December slump."

"This performance, with the exception of the year end decline," the chamber added, "closely parallels that of the national economy which, according to leading economists, is scheduled to hold its own through the first half of 1963 before posting new gains in the last half of the year."

The chamber said all-time records were posted during 1962 by eight indicators.

Retail sales were up 1.1 per cent from 1961; electric power production, gained 1.4 per cent; consumers' sales tax collections, up 7 per cent to $43,376,000; business privilege tax collections, 7.8 per cent to $55,357,000; gasoline sales, 4.4 per cent to 502.7 million gallons; postal receipts, 0.3 per cent to $10,725,000; bank debits, 5.2 per cent to $10,182,000,000, and average weekly earnings in manufacturing, 3.5 per cent to $101.27.

Posting declines during 1962 from 1961 levels were dollar value of manufactured products, down 0.2 per cent; sales of ordinary life insurance, 0.1 per cent; cash farm income, 3.3 per cent; average weekly mining earnings, 0.5 per cent to $118.83, and total employment, 2.6 per cent to a monthly average of 532,400.

Faulty Stove's Fumes Fatal To Man And Woman

NEW MARTINSVILLE, W. Va. (AP)—Fumes from a faulty stove were believed to have caused the asphyxiation Thursday night of a man and woman in a New Martinsville home.

The victims were identified by sheriff's deputies as Mrs. Charles C. Ullom, 57, of Malvern Ohio, and Junior Thompson, 38.

Mrs. Harold Britten, 47, was in critical condition in a New Martinsville hospital where her husband was admitted earlier in the week after suffering a heart attack.

Mrs. Ullom was a sister of Mrs. Britten and had come to New Martinsville to be with her during her husband's illness. Thompson was identified as a nephew of Mrs. Britten. He lived with the Britten family.

Neighbors became alarmed this morning when Thompson failed to meet a friend to accompany him to work. Police were called and the front door was forced. The two women were found in a bedroom. Thompson's body was in the bathroom.

Police said they understood the stove had been installed only yesterday.

Criminal Trials Set To Begin On Monday

LISBON — The first criminal trial in the January term of Common Pleas Court will begin Monday with Jerry Molner of Columbiana R. D. 2 facing a jury. He was indicted by the January Grand Jury for driving while intoxicated.

He was cited by the State Highway Patrol and pleaded not guilty at arraignment Jan. 21.

Judge Joel H. Sharp will preside over criminal trials for the term. Molner's is expected to be completed in one day.

A venire of 15 prospective jurors was called earlier to report Monday at 9 a. m.

Truck Damaged In Minor Mishap

A halted bakery truck was damaged when grazed by a Columbiana County ash-spreading vehicle Thursday on Armstrong Ln. about 45 feet off St. Clair Ave., police reported.

The county-owned dump truck, operated by Howard T. Huston, 52, of Calcutta, bumped a 1963 panel truck owned by the Donaldson Baking Co. of Canton and operated by Arthur H. Sweet, 23, of Canton, officers said. There was damaged to the left rear of the bakery truck. The county truck was undamaged, officers said.

Sweet told police he stopped because his load of baked goods shifted as he turned off St. Clair onto Armstrong. He said the county truck, attempting to pass, grazed his vehicle. Huston told police he was attempting to get around the halted truck and avoid going into an open ditch on the left side of the road when his truck grazed the halted vehicle.

West Virginia Hits Business Peak In 1962

CHARLESTON (AP) — Although business slumped in December, 1962 will go down as the best economic year in West Virginia's history, the State Chamber of Commerce said Thursday.

Only 7 of the chamber's 22 monthly indicators improved in December from November levels and much of that was seasonal, the chamber said in its monthly business index.

For the year as a whole, 17 of the 22 indicators surpassed their 1961 performance, the report added.

In reviewing the year's activities the chamber said most "indicators started with a rush, reached a high level plateau in the spring, dipped slightly in late summer and climbed again in the fall prior to the December slump."

"This performance, with the exception of the year end decline," the chamber added, "closely parallels that of the national economy which, according to leading economists, is scheduled to hold its own through the first half of 1963 before posting new gains in the last half of the year."

The chamber said all-time records were posted during 1962 by eight indicators.

Retail sales were up 1.1 per cent from 1961; electric power production, gained 1.4 per cent; consumers' sales tax collections, up 7 per cent to $43,376,000; business privilege tax collections, 7.8 per cent to $55,357,000; gasoline sales, 4.4 per cent to 502.7 million gallons; postal receipts, 0.3 per cent to $10,725,000; bank debits, 5.2 per cent to $10,182,000,000, and average weekly earnings in manufacturing, 3.5 per cent to $101.27.

Posting declines during 1962 from 1961 levels were dollar value of manufactured products, down 0.2 per cent; sales of ordinary life insurance, 0.1 per cent; cash farm income, 3.3 per cent; average weekly mining earnings, 0.5 per cent to $118.83, and total employment, 2.6 per cent to a monthly average of 532,400.

Bovard is a career man with the department, having joined the right-of-way section of Division 5 in Newark in 1947. He said he does not plan any immediate changes, but plans to take a look at what he called the division's "heavy payroll."

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm so upset I don't know where to turn. My mother who lives 22 miles from here had a stroke. I've had to spend a lot of time relieving my older sister who is trying to care for her.

When I go to mother's my husband takes care of our 17-month-old daughter. Three weeks ago when I came home, I found a note saying my husband had taken the baby to the hospital. She had fallen out of her high chair. Fortunately no bones were broken.

Last night I found a similar note. This time, the baby suffered a broken arm. When I went to the hospital this morning the doctor questioned me at length. It seems this is the fourth time in a year our child has been brought in. (I didn't know about the other two times.) The doctor suspects my husband has been beating the baby.

Can this be possible? If it's true what can I do? Please help me—I'm a nervous wreck. — EDNA.

Dear Edna: A University of Colorado team investigated the "battered child syndrome" recently and found 302 cases in a single year. The parents usually deny beating the child. The high chair excuse is the most popular.

A parent who would beat a youngster is deeply disturbed emotionally and the child should be protected against such brutality. Keep your eyes wide open and if there is further evidence, by all means get this man out of your home and into treatment.

Confidence Betrayed

Dear Ann: I was shocked recently when, at a social gathering, an officer of a bank had one too many martinis and began to speak openly about the financial problem of two of his clients.

Last night, at another social affair, a nurse who is employed in a doctor's office revealed some highly personal information about a prominent woman who is a patient.

I always thought individuals who dealt professionally with the public had a moral obligation to keep their mouths shut. It seems unspeakable that they would use confidential information for social chit-chat. Is there something I, as one person, can do to combat this sort of thing? I am — HORRIFIED.

—:—

Dear Horrified: Yes. You can do business with another bank and go to another doctor. And if the question ever is raised as to "why," you can explain — leaving out all names of course.

Big Dollar Eyes

Dear Ann: I am a 15-year-old girl who is crazy about horses. I belong to a riding club and we meet every week. My parents are not what you would call rich, so I really appreciate this luxury.

The more I see of horses the more I yearn to have a horse of my own. I know my folks can't afford to buy me a horse, at least not for quite awhile.

My grandmother is a shut-in. She was injured in an accident a long time ago and never goes any place. Mother says she has a large bankbook and gets a regular income from some property. She never spends any money on herself, so she must be saving a lot.

I want to ask her if she will buy me a horse and board it. It would mean the world to me and I think she could do it with no trouble. What do you say? — UNDECIDED.

-:-

Dear Undecided: I say take your big eyes off your grandmother's bankbook. You don't ASK people to buy you a gift, regardless of how much money they have. And it may well be that your grandmother needs every bit of what she has to care for herself in her remaining years.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Appeal Arranged For Jobless Pay Of Pottery Staff

The International Brotherhood of Operative Potters said today a petition will be filed with the West Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals on behalf of former employes of the Edwin M. Knowles China Co. on the question of a week's unemployment compensation allegedly denied them after the plant closed nearly two months ago.

The union said the case turns on this question: Does the payment of accumulated vacation pay disqualify an employe from receiving unemployment compensation when a plant suspends operations?

It said former employes of the Newell concern, in filing claims for unemployment compensation, were denied the benefits for the week in which the vacation checks were issued. It added that the law in West Virginia apparently disqualifies a person for benefits for periods in which he receives vacation pay.

The IBOP said it has been advised by James M. Sprouse, general counsel for the West Virginia State Federation of Labor, that he is in the process of appealing the ruling to the state's high court. Sprouse also suggested that individual potters file appeals in which he will act as their counsel, the union said.

2 Tear-Down Permits Issued For Buildings

Two permits to raze buildings were issued during January by Mayor Bert H. Goodballet's office, but none was obtained for new construction or remodeling work.

The tear - down permits were issued to: Alfred C. Gloeckner Jr., to raze a building at 226 Walnut St., and Jack Humphries, for the Ostopathic Hospital to remove a building at 320 W. 6th St.

It was the first January in recent memory in which at least one building permit was not issued. In January 1962, new building totaling $9,175 was authorized. Last December, one permit was issued for a job costing $1,200.

Rhodes Cites Poor Enforcement

Ohio's Juvenile Problem Linked To Liquor Laws

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Poor enforcement of state liquor laws is the most pressing problem in Ohio so far as juveniles are concerned, Gov. James A. Rhodes says.

"I don't think liquor laws are being enforced as rigidly as they should be," Rhodes said Thursday at his third news conference since taking office. "Penalties are too light," he said.

The governor called for passage of an administration-backed bill that would cut from four to three the number of Liquor Board members. He said this would end deadlocks on penalties and aid in a crackdown on tavern owners who sell to juveniles.

"The new people I appoint won't produce a hung board. The phone will ring over there if they continue light sentences for juvenile offenders," the governor added.

On another subject, Rhodes said he would ask state employes to work voluntarily on Lincoln's and Washington's birthdays. He referred to a court injunction knocking out a previous order by Finance Director Richard Krabach that employes must work on those days.

Rhodes said he and his office staff will be on the job both days, adding: "All we are trying to do is get our work done. All we want is efficiency in state government."

Insurance Director William R. Morris said he has urged Blue Cross Service in the Canton-Massillon area to accept a 10.4 per cent overall rate increase instead of the 18.5 per cent boost requested. He said he expects acceptance of his request by Richard O. Parker, executive director of Hospital Service, Inc., Canton.

Morris indicated that a reduction also will be sought in a pending 25.9 per cent rate increase asked by Blue Cross serving the Akron-Cleveland area.

Rhodes announced the appointment of Clarence C. Luft, Mansfield, as superintendent of banks. He succeeds Raymond H. Willett, Columbus, whose appointment by former Gov. Michael V. DiSalle was rejected by the Senate. Luft, who has 40 years' banking experience, has been assistant trust officer at the First National Bank in Mansfield.

The governor said he would wait until next week to appoint a director of public works.

Highway Director P. E. Masheter reported that efforts will be made to speed construction of Interstate 71 from its present northern terminus near Medina into Cleveland. He added that Cleveland approval of a nine-mile stretch is needed before public hearings on that stretch can be arranged.

Area Executive Talks To City Kiwanis Club

About 45 attended a meeting of the Kiwanis Club Thursday at which Atty. Edwin Greenamyer of Leetonia, Kiwanis lieutenant governor, spoke on objectives for the year.

Greenamyer commended the club for ranking third in the division in 1962, and listed various goals the division clubs should set for the coming year.

It was reported three members are tentatively planning to participate in a trip to Vienna, Austria, in May for inauguration of the first European Kiwanis Club.

2 Tear-Down Permits Issued For Buildings

Two permits to raze buildings were issued during January by Mayor Bert H. Goodballet's office, but none was obtained for new construction or remodeling work.

The tear - down permits were issued to: Alfred C. Gloeckner Jr., to raze a building at 226 Walnut St., and Jack Humphries, for the Ostopathic Hospital to remove a building at 320 W. 6th St.

It was the first January in recent memory in which at least one building permit was not issued. In January 1962, new building totaling $9,175 was authorized. Last December, one permit was issued for a job costing $1,200.

Rhodes Cites Poor Enforcement

Ohio's Juvenile Problem Linked To Liquor Laws

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Poor enforcement of state liquor laws is the most pressing problem in Ohio so far as juveniles are concerned, Gov. James A. Rhodes says.

"I don't think liquor laws are being enforced as rigidly as they should be," Rhodes said Thursday at his third news conference since taking office. "Penalties are too light," he said.

The governor called for passage of an administration-backed bill that would cut from four to three the number of Liquor Board members. He said this would end deadlocks on penalties and aid in a crackdown on tavern owners who sell to juveniles.

"The new people I appoint won't produce a hung board. The phone will ring over there if they continue light sentences for juvenile offenders," the governor added.

On another subject, Rhodes said he would ask state employes to work voluntarily on Lincoln's and Washington's birthdays. He referred to a court injunction knocking out a previous order by Finance Director Richard Krabach that employes must work on those days.

Rhodes said he and his office staff will be on the job both days, adding: "All we are trying to do is get our work done. All we want is efficiency in state government."

Insurance Director William R. Morris said he has urged Blue Cross Service in the Canton-Massillon area to accept a 10.4 per cent overall rate increase instead of the 18.5 per cent boost requested. He said he expects acceptance of his request by Richard O. Parker, executive director of Hospital Service, Inc., Canton.

Morris indicated that a reduction also will be sought in a pending 25.9 per cent rate increase asked by Blue Cross serving the Akron-Cleveland area.

Rhodes announced the appointment of Clarence C. Luft, Mansfield, as superintendent of banks. He succeeds Raymond H. Willett, Columbus, whose appointment by former Gov. Michael V. DiSalle was rejected by the Senate. Luft, who has 40 years' banking experience, has been assistant trust officer at the First National Bank in Mansfield.

The governor said he would wait until next week to appoint a director of public works.

Highway Director P. E. Masheter reported that efforts will be made to speed construction of Interstate 71 from its present northern terminus near Medina into Cleveland. He added that Cleveland approval of a nine-mile stretch is needed before public hearings on that stretch can be arranged.

DEAR HELOISE: Quite by accident one day, I happened to lay a glass pie dish on my recipe book and immediately happened to notice how it magnified the printing of the recipe. Yes, I wear glasses! But . . . it magnified it more.

Now, instead of covering my recipe book with a piece of plastic to keep it clean—which most housewives never have the time to do anyway—I just lay my glass pie plate over the recipe book itself and not only does it keep the book clean but I can even read the printing without my glasses!

As we usually are mixing these recipes in our bowls anyway and do not use the pie plate until later, I thought I should pass this on.

DEAR HELOISE: Here is something I am sure many of your readers will enjoy doing:

Use a child's paint brush and some food coloring to decorate cake icing. With the basic food colors, you can mix any color and your design can be as elaborate or simple as you wish.

A butter frosting makes a good base and I would suggest lightly sketching your design with a toothpick on the icing before tinting it.

Frozen Cake Hint

DEAR HELOISE: I purchased a plastic shoe box at one of our department stores and lined it with waxed paper. I use this to store my sliced cake in the freezer.

After baking the cake -and this is especially good with loaf or pound cake—place the slices in the lined shoe box between sheets of waxed paper. The box will hold and entire cake.

Remove the frozen slices as needed for lunches or take the entire box on a picnic. By the time you get to your destination, the cake slices will be completely thawed.

I find that you can use this method even on layer cakes which contain icing. My cakes never crumble and the waxed paper between the slices keep them intact.

Books On Taxes, Investment Recommended By Library

Early in the financial year is a fine time to size up one's monetary status, according to Miss Frances Jones, librarian, who said the Carnegie Public Library is prepared to help a person get to the heart of his problems — taxes, investments or selling ideas.

A gift of the famous John Moody company brought the 1962 volume of "Moody's Industrial Manual" to the local library. Since 1900, this manual has been the Bible of the investment trade. The current edition gives uptodate coverage on 5,100 companies, showing net earnings over at least a 10-year period.

For the busy person who lacks time there are numerous pamphlets which guide the small investor: Standard & Poor's "How to Invest," "Dollars and Sense Guide to Buying Stocks," "How a Corporation Works," "How to Understand Financial Statements" and "Finance Facts Yearbook for 1962."

Vance Packard is at it again—turning his X-ray eye on the business society to tell us how it ticks. This volume performs a sort of surgery on executives, analyzing how they get where they are and giving tips on the environment they must accept to achieve the top level positions. The title, "The Pyramid Climbers."

Closely related are two manuals, "What Price Economic Growth," by Knorr and Baumol, and a brochure from the DuPont Corp., "The Profit Motive."

If you are feeling low in regards to your economic situation, an array of Dale Carnegie type volumes, will help to get you in a more optimistic frame of mind:

"Your Magic Power to Persuade and Command People" by Vernon Howard, "The Strategy of Creative Thinking" by Bernard Goldner, "The Dynamic Laws of Prosperity" by Catherine Ponder, and Hugh Bell's "The Salesman's Rainbow of Success."

The story of America's apparel business will appeal to women who work with the business of fashion — the title, "Clothes and Cloth" and the authors, Pauline and Percival White.

"The Handbook of Advanced Secretarial Techniques" gives clear instructions for handling special tasks outside of normal routine, including statistical typing, chart making and legal and financial papers.

Two writers' biographies give insight into the world of journalism, "A Fragment of Autobiography," the fun of writing the 'Inside Books' by John Gunther, and "Forgive Us Our Press Passes," by Elaine Shepard.

Three novels which spotlight facets of our capitalist world complete the offerings in this week's new book display:

"The Last Capitalist" by Robert Mirvish tells of "free enterprise" under the Soviets—bought with a ration of ladies' stockings and reactionary cigarettes; "George Winthrop," by Sloan Wilson, billed as the man who lives next to the "Man in the Gray Flannel Suit," and William Woolfolk's novel about the movie industry, "My Name Is Morgan."

Those Good Black Figures . . .

The 1962 ELHS football financial report was accepted with pleasure by the Athletic Board this week and the black figures, $4,624 of them, were good to see.

A profit like that which helped to bring the school's net deficit to about $1,400 came about because of several reasons.

The two big gates at the beginning of the season when the weather was at its best were a big help. The Niles and Beaver Local games had a combined gate of over 12,000.

The crowds were good, but elimination of free comps, which was introduced this season along with a brisk season ticket sale, pushed the figures into the black.

It must pointed out that the big items in the expenses (equipment, $4,172.01; reconditioning, $1,760.25, transportation, $998.76) aren't items for the varsity and reserve teams only but include the two Junior High squads.

The crowds at the basketball games have been outstanding so far this season and at the end of the cage campaign, ELHS may be out of debt for the first time in several years.

Cabas Respects Potters . . .

JOHN CABAS, the Salem basketball coach, who has enjoyed a very successful career with the Quakers, has two good reasons to respect the East Liverpool Potters.

A 2-9 record, which ELHS is stuck with at this point in the season, doesn't look like much but earlier this week Cabas said "I have a lot of respect for the East Liverpool squad, they have lost numerous close games to strong teams."

Another reason why he wouldn't regard the Potters lightly goes back two years ago about this time.

Cabas brought his team to East Liverpool with a 12-2 record, an 11-game winning streak and ranked 16th in the state.

Don Davidson, at 6-foot-5, was the big gun for the Quakers along with Bill Beery who was only a sophomore then and will be in the starting lineup tonight.

Tonight's battle has about the same setting with ELHS, a definite underdog.

Allen Still Unsigned . . .

BERNIE ALLEN has returned his first contract offer from the Minnesota Twins unsigned. Seems he wasn't satisfied with the first contract price and is seeking a little more of a raise.

Bernie is one of 17 Twins not signed. Twenty-two are under contract now.

The East Liverpool lad, who is in the Army at Ft. Knox until March, has some ground for bargaining with the Twins.

He hit .268 last season, which isn't bad at all for a second baseman and was part of a double play combination that led the American League. His fielding was almost flawless and he drove in about 60 runs.

This 'N That In Sports . . .

IT WAS almost a 300 game but not quite.

Bud Steffen wheeled a 298 game Monday night in open bowling at the Headpin Alleys in East End.

Bud fired 11 straight strikes, then in the final frame left two pins standing to knock him out of the bowler's dream.

Cincy Goes Overtime To Top Drake, 65-60

No. 1 Team Scared But Gains 34th

By The Associated Press

Drake, loser of eight games so far this season, came within one lone free throw of pulling the upset of the college basketball season Thursday night in a superlative effort against unbeaten Cincinnati.

But when it was all over, the mighty Bearcats had escaped with a 65-60 overtime triumph, keeping their 34-game winning string intact and retaining a strong hold on their first in the nation rating.

Loyola of Chicago and Niagara, the only other major unbeaten teams in the country, had much less trouble in stretching their strings. Loyola, ranked second in the nation, crushed Washington of St. Louis 118-58 for its 19 straight, and Niagara beat Georgetown, of Washington, D.C., 89-75 for its 10th straight.

Wake Forest beat South Carolina 54-45 in a key Atlantic Coast Conference game, Kentucky held off Georgia 74-67, and in a Madison Square Garden doubleheader Bowling Green defeated St. John's, N.Y., 63-55 and Providence ripped Dayton 84-72.

Cincinnati's scare against Drake was the Bearcats' toughest game of the season. Their previous closest games this season were a six-point triumph over Bradley and a seven-point edge over Dayton.

The Bearcats, winners of 16 straight this season, trailed much of the way and came from behind to tie it 58-58 on two free throws by Tom Thacker with 2:17 left in regulation time. There was no further scoring until the overtime.

The lead changed hands 11 times before Thacker's two free throws tied it for the last time. He missed a free throw that could have won it with 5 seconds left, and also was wide on a following shot.

George Wilson hit the first five of Cincinnati's seven points in the extra session to nail it down.

A spectator collapsed of apparent heart failure during the final minute of the game and was dead on arrival at a hospital.

Gene West of Drake led all scorers with 21 points, while Wilson had 20 for the winners, now 5-0 in the Missouri Valley Conference League. Drake is 1-4 in league play.

In other major action, Rutgers broke a five-game losing string with a 90-83 victory over Lafayette, St. Louis beat Marquette 73-62, Utah State coasted to a 97-69 triumph over Utah, and Tulsa fought off Arkansas 68-66.

In the Madison Square Garden doubleheader, Bowling Green leaped to a 23-10 lead and was never headed. But Dayton, which had a halftime lead of 13 points, was blasted with a 19-point run by the Rhode Islanders at the start of the second half.

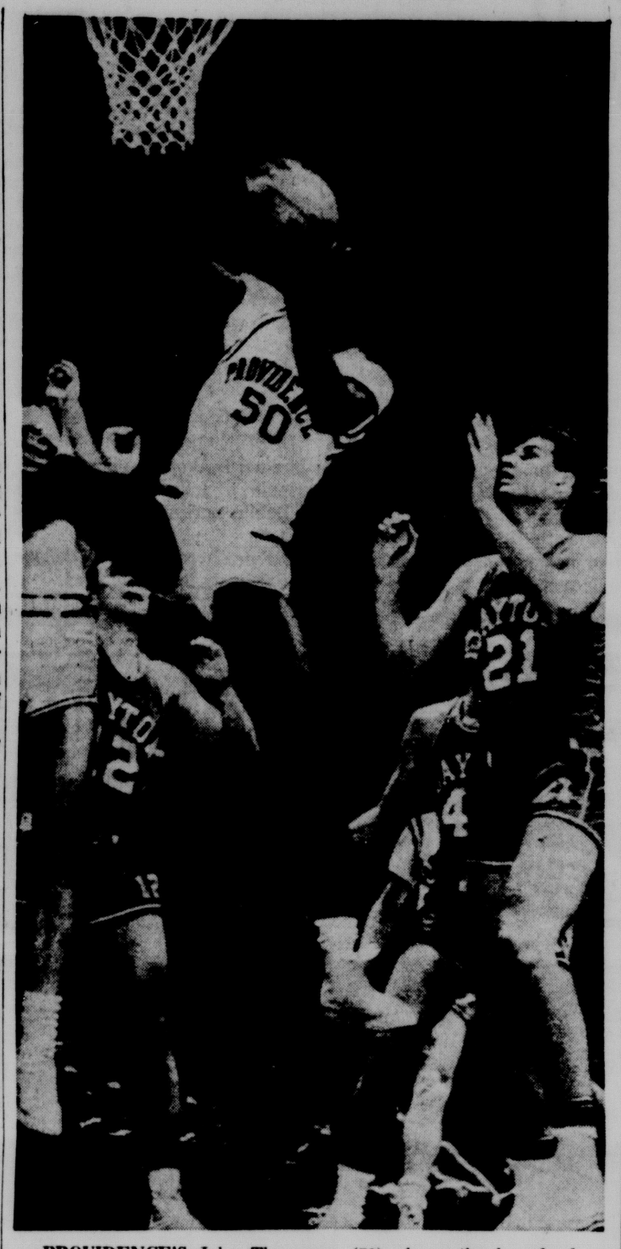

Two other Ohio teams traveled out of state Thursday night and brought home victories.

Oberlin defeated Allegheny 68-62 at Meadville for its third victory in 12 games. In Wheeling, W. Va., Steubenville took an 8-0 start and went on to beat Wheeling College 69-51. It was Steubenville's 12th win and the West Virginians' 11th loss.

In Gambier, Kenyon took an Ohio Conference game from Marietta 86-65 for its second league win in nine games. The Lords' overall record is 4-8. Marietta is 7-10 in the conference and 9-12 for the season.

Akron defeated Hiram 78-57 in another Ohio Conference game in the Rubber City. The Zips are No. 6 among the small college basketball teams in the nation and now have a 10-1 conference, 15-1 overall record. Hiram is 10-3 for the season, 7-3 in conference play.

Pitchers Agree, Of Course; Hitters Complain On Zone

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — As expected, the baseball rules committee's recent action in liberalizing the strike zone has brought sighs of relief from the pitchers and yelps from the hitters.

'It's about time they got around to doing something for the pitchers," said Los Angeles pitching ace Don Drysdale, who probably was happier signing a $46,000 Dodger contract.

"I'm glad they did it although I don't think it will affect me any. The new rule is more apt to help a pitcher like Sandy Koufax, who can really buzz that high hard one."

The new strike zone—from the top of the shoulders to the knees instead of from the armpits to the top of the knees, is expected to enlarge that area by 10 inches, according to the estimate of Cal Hubbard, American League umpire-in-chief.

Slugger Frank Robinson of the Cincinnati Reds doesn't like the new rule at all.

"I've been in this game for nine years," he said, "and in all that time I've been trying to teach myself to lay off that high pitch on the shoulders because it's not a strike and it's a bad pitch to hit. Now, if I let it go, it will be a strike."

Mickey Mantle, who cut down his strikeout total appreciably last year, is another concerned over the rule change.

"I'll probably strike out 400 times next season," he muttered.

The Yankee switchhitter fanned only 78 times in 123 games, marking one of the few times his strikeout total dipped below the century mark.

Club officials, including field managers and general managers, are virtually unanimously in favor of the new high strike rule.

"It's a great move," observed Bobby Bragan, the new manager of the Milwaukee Braves. "It will not only speed up the game but make it more interesting."

Hawks, Leafs Post Wins In NHL Play

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago's Bobby Hull, though slowed by a charley horse, scored three goals and two assists in a 9-2 National Hockey League victory by the first-place Black Hawks over the last-place Boston Bruins Thursday night.

Toronto's Red Kelly also turned in three goals as the Leafs came from behind and whipped the Montreal Canadiens 6-3 in the only other game played.

The victory left Toronto in undisputed possession of second place, two points behind Chicago. The Leafs and Montreal had been tied for second before the game.

Wisconsin's Lou Holland led Big Ten football scorers last fall with nine touchdowns for 64 points.

'Fat Jack' Moves Into Links Lead

By JIM BACON

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player, with hot putters, were one-two today as the $50,000 Palm Springs golf classic went into its third round.

Arnold Palmer, the other member of golf's big three, was eight strokes behind and feeling mighty low about the whole thing.

Nicklaus, at 23 the youngest National Open champion since Bobby Jones, fashioned seven birdies—five of them on the back nine—for a 35-31 on the tough Tamarisk course, one of four layouts in the 90-hole event. Thursday's 66 paired with an opening 69, made him the solo leader at 135.

Player with a 67-69 was one strike behind as was young Bob Shave Jr., Willoughby, Ohio, who had identical two-day cards. Both played Tamarisk.

Palmer, still playing well off the tee but scrambling on the greens, shot a par 72 at Tamarisk. That with his opening 71 put him in a horde of 143 shooters.

"My putting is awful, just awful," moaned Palmer, a two-time winner of the classic.

Harold Kneece, first round coleader, shot a 71 Thursday to go with his 66 opener to tie for third with 137. Johnny Pott (67-68) and Tommy Aaron (68-69) were in the same bracket.

There were no near misses reported for the $50,000-added prize for a hole-in-one, which must be made over four selected holes, the shortest of which is 217 yards.

Celts, Lakers Rally To Win

By The Associated Press

The rich get richer in the National Basketball Association as the division-leading Boston Celtics and the Los Angeles Lakers go streaking toward wrapping up the Eastern and Western titles.

The Celts rallied in the final minutes and edged the Cincinnati Royals 128-125 Thursday night while the Lakers also came from behind and turned back the Detroit Pistons 127-122.

The victories were the sixth straight for both Boston and Los Angeles. The Celtics lead the Eastern Division by 8½ games and the Lakers hold a nine-game bulge in the West.

In other games Thursday night, the Chicago Zephyrs posted their first victory ever on the Syracuse court in whipping the New York Knicks 116-101. The Nats edged the St. Louis Hawks 112-110 in the windup of a doubleheader.

District basketball warfare takes place on 10 different fronts tonight with the Salem-East Liverpool contest at Memorial Auditorium grabbing center ring and a packed house is expected.

Another heavy Saturday night card follows with eight games scheduled to round out the weekend.

East Liverpool, which can only hope to finish with a .500 season if it would win the remaining seven games, goes after victory No. 3 tonight against a strong Salem club.

THE POTTERS only have been successful defeating Wheeling Linsly and Steubenville Central. Salem moves into town with a 9-4 record and fresh from setting a school scoring record of 107 points Tuesday night against Youngstown South.

Coach Jim Harris said Ed Prentice who was to start tonight's contest, has been ill this week and he probably will be replaced by either Dave Oliver or Randy Stover.

MIDLAND, which completed the first half of its Section 8 schedule undefeated, seeks its eighth straight league victory tonight at Hopewell. In the first meeting this season, the Leopards didn't have much trouble gaining a 55-30 victory.

Since Minerva slipped in an upset over Lisbon, the Tri-County battle has been tighter with the Blue Devils and Columbiana sharing the lead. Both have 7-1 records.

TONIGHT, Lisbon visits Leetonia, a team which sprang a slight upset by nipping Crestview last week. Columbiana is favored to take its eighth league victory when it plays host to East Palestine.

Two more League games Saturday show Louisville at Lisbon and Columbiana visiting Sebring.

NEW CUMBERLAND will be seeking revenge tonight at Mingo Junction for a 55-54 loss earlier this month.

Beaver Local will attempt to snap a 10-game losing streak and should do it at Western Reserve, a team which has only won one game in 12 starts.

United goes after its sixth win of the year at Jackson - Milton while South Side is in a Section 15 contest at Ft. Cherry.

Bouncing Junior Is Big Gun For Arizona State

By BOB EGER

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP)—Joe Caldwell, a 6-foot-5 junior with a lot of bounce-to-the-ounce, is a major reason Arizona State University enjoys the No. 5 ranking among the nation's basketball teams.

Caldwell's teammates have nicknamed the former Los Angeles Fremont High player Pogo. One look at him bouncing up for a rebound and the reason is obvious.

Caldwell's averaging 20 points and 10 rebounds a game and has turned in some defensive work that left opponents shaking in their sneakers.

They have found its no fun to start a jump shot and suddenly find the ball neatly blocked or stolen.

Caldwell also has a burning ambition. He wants to play professional basketball.

"I want to make the pros so I can afford to move my parents out of Texas and out to the West Coast," the Negro star said. A number of his relatives live in Los Angeles.

Of the National Collegiate basketball scene, Caldwell agrees that Cincinnati is the team to beat. However he says the Sun Devils are just as eager for a shot at second-ranked Loyola.

"Those guys (Loyola) play our type of ball. It would be a great game because we're one team that can run with them."

Does he think the Sun Devils have a chance of playing either of the two this season?

"If they make it to the (NCAA) finals, we'll be there waiting for them," he said.

Rozelle Fails To Yield To Quick Probe Report

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Commissioner Pete Rozelle of the National Football League refuses to yield to heavy pressure for a quick announcement on the pro football gambling probe and maintains he must wait until all available facts have been assembled.

The NFL's annual winter meetings ended Thursday but there still was no indication when Rozelle would make a report. Will it be two weeks, a month? Or when?

"I can't say," said Rozelle in answer to reporters' questions. "We realize the importance of speed but this must be complete. I have to say, just as I have been saying since Jan. 4 when the first stories of the investigation were printed, certain allegations have been made involving a number of people. Our investigation to date has developed no indication of acts of a criminal nature."

As the owners ended their business sessions there appeared to be concern, but not panic, about the situation and the parallel preliminary probe by the Senate Investigating subcommittee headed by Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark.

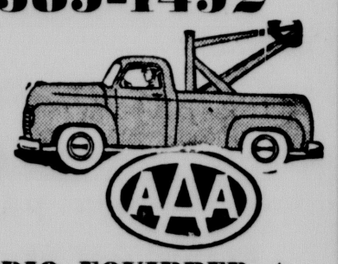

The investigation was revealed Jan. 4 when Rozelle was asked by owner-coach George Halas of the Chicago Bears to check into whispered rumors of a betting scandal.

Those Good Black Figures . . .

The 1962 ELHS football financial report was accepted with pleasure by the Athletic Board this week and the black figures, $4,624 of them, were good to see.

A profit like that which helped to bring the school's net deficit to about $1,400 came about because of several reasons.

The two big gates at the beginning of the season when the weather was at its best were a big help. The Niles and Beaver Local games had a combined gate of over 12,000.

The crowds were good, but elimination of free comps, which was introduced this season along with a brisk season ticket sale, pushed the figures into the black.

It must pointed out that the big items in the expenses (equipment, $4,172.01; reconditioning, $1,760.25, transportation, $998.76) aren't items for the varsity and reserve teams only but include the two Junior High squads.

Nicklaus, at 23 the youngest National Open champion since Bobby Jones, fashioned seven birdies—five of them on the back nine—for a 35-31 on the tough Tamarisk course, one of four layouts in the 90-hole event. Thursday's 66 paired with an opening 69, made him the solo leader at 135.

Player with a 67-69 was one strike behind as was young Bob Shave Jr., Willoughby, Ohio, who had identical two-day cards. Both played Tamarisk.

Palmer, still playing well off the tee but scrambling on the greens, shot a par 72 at Tamarisk. That with his opening 71 put him in a horde of 143 shooters.

"My putting is awful, just awful," moaned Palmer, a two-time winner of the classic.

Harold Kneece, first round co-leader, shot a 71 Thursday to go with his 66 opener to tie for third with 137. Johnny Pott (67-68) and Tommy Aaron (68-69) were in the same bracket.

There were no near misses reported for the $50,000-added prize for a hole-in-one, which must be made over four selected holes, the shortest of which is 217 yards.

Celts, Lakers Rally To Win

By The Associated Press

The rich get richer in the National Basketball Association as the division-leading Boston Celtics and the Los Angeles Lakers go streaking toward wrapping up the Eastern and Western titles.

The Celts rallied in the final minutes and edged the Cincinnati Royals 128-125 Thursday night while the Lakers also came from behind and turned back the Detroit Pistons 127-122.

The victories were the sixth straight for both Boston and Los Angeles. The Celtics lead the Eastern Division by 8½ games and the Lakers hold a nine-game bulge in the West.

In other games Thursday night, the Chicago Zephyrs posted their first victory ever on the Syracuse court in whipping the New York Knicks 116-101. The Nats edged the St. Louis Hawks 112-110 in the windup of a doubleheader.

District basketball warfare takes place on 10 different fronts tonight with the Salem-East Liverpool contest at Memorial Auditorium grabbing center ring and a packed house is expected.

Another heavy Saturday night card follows with eight games scheduled to round out the weekend.

East Liverpool, which can only hope to finish with a .500 season if it would win the remaining seven games, goes after victory No. 3 tonight against a strong Salem club.

—:—

THE POTTERS only have been successful defeating Wheeling Linsly and Steubenville Central. Salem moves into town with a 9-4 record and fresh from setting a school scoring record of 107 points Tuesday night against Youngstown South.

Coach Jim Harris said Ed Prentice who was to start tonight's contest, has been ill this week and he probably will be replaced by either Dave Oliver or Randy Stover.

MIDLAND, which completed the first half of its Section 8 schedule undefeated, seeks its eighth straight league victory tonight at Hopewell. In the first meeting this season, the Leopards didn't have much trouble gaining a 55-30 victory.

Since Minerva slipped in an upset over Lisbon, the Tri-County battle has been tighter with the Blue Devils and Columbiana sharing the lead. Both have 7-1 records.

TONIGHT, Lisbon visits Leetonia, a team which sprang a slight upset by nipping Crestview last week. Columbiana is favored to take its eighth league victory when it plays host to East Palestine.

Two more League games Saturday show Louisville at Lisbon and Columbiana visiting Sebring.

The Salineville Indians with their first victory under their belts seek No. 2 tonight at Jefferson Union. Crestview with a 10-3 record will attempt to get back on the win trail at Western Reserve.

—:—

NEW CUMBERLAND will be seeking revenge tonight at Mingo Junction for a 55-54 loss earlier this month.

Beaver Local will attempt to snap a 10-game losing streak and should do it at Western Reserve, a team which has only won one game in 12 starts.

United goes after its sixth win of the year at Jackson - Milton while South Side is in a Section 15 contest at Ft. Cherry.

Bouncing Junior Is Big Gun For Arizona State

By BOB EGER

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP)—Joe Caldwell, a 6-foot-5 junior with a lot of bounce-to-the-ounce, is a major reason Arizona State University enjoys the No. 5 ranking among the nation's basketball teams.

Caldwell's teammates have nicknamed the former Los Angeles Fremont High player Pogo. One look at him bouncing up for a rebound and the reason is obvious.

He's a 6-7 high jumper in track.

Caldwell's averaging 20 points and 10 rebounds a game and has turned in some defensive work that left opponents shaking in their sneakers.

They have found its no fun to start a jump shot and suddenly find the ball neatly blocked or stolen.

Caldwell also has a burning ambition. He wants to play professional basketball.

"I want to make the pros so I can afford to move my parents out of Texas and out to the West Coast," the Negro star said. A number of his relatives live in Los Angeles.

Of the National Collegiate basketball scene, Caldwell agrees that Cincinnati is the team to beat. However he says the Sun Devils are just as eager for a shot at second-ranked Loyola.

"Those guys (Loyola) play our type of ball. It would be a great game because we're one team that can run with them."

Does he think the Sun Devils have a chance of playing either of the two this season?

"If they make it to the (NCAA) finals, we'll be there waiting for them," he said.

Rozelle Fails To Yield To Quick Probe Report

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Commissioner Pete Rozelle of the National Football League refuses to yield to heavy pressure for a quick announcement on the pro football gambling probe and maintains he must wait until all available facts have been assembled.

The NFL's annual winter meetings ended Thursday but there still was no indication when Rozelle would make a report. Will it be two weeks, a month? Or when?

"I can't say," said Rozelle in answer to reporters' questions. "We realize the importance of speed but this must be complete. I have to say, just as I have been saying since Jan. 4 when the first stories of the investigation were printed, certain allegations have been made involving a number of people. Our investigation to date has developed no indication of acts of a criminal nature."

As the owners ended their business sessions there appeared to be concern, but not panic, about the situation and the parallel preliminary probe by the Senate Investigating subcommittee headed by Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark.

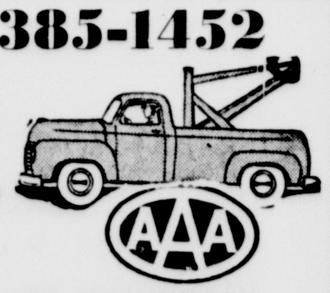

The investigation was revealed Jan. 4 when Rozelle was asked by owner-coach George Halas of the Chicago Bears to check into whispered rumors of a betting scandal.

Things Were Jumping In Freight Office

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A tadpole tangle created a crisis that never will be forgotten at a freight office here.

Deciding to venture into the bullfrog business, Wallace E. Johnson ordered a batch of frogs and tadpoles from a St. Louis firm.

The shipment arrived on a Friday but nobody could locate Johnson to make delivery.

The men at the freight office were nervous wrecks by the time delivery was made on Monday. They had spent the whole weary weekend pouring fresh water over the tadpoles.

The tag, which should have been on the crate with the 12 frogs instead of the one with the 6,000 tads, read:

"Insured for $20 each."

Art Heyman of Rockville Center, N.Y., led Duke's basketball team in scoring last season. He averaged 25.3 points for 24 games. He is a 6-foot-5 senior.

Battalion Fire Chief Has Way With Flames

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Battalion Chief Edward W. Gallagher of the St. Louis Fire Department has a way with flames, whether they be on a burning building or in the oven.

Chief Gallagher won the Missouri championship this year in a national men's cooking competition.

The chief won with a culinary creation called "Lobster Chip Boog-A-Roo."

He said the name "Boog-A-Roo" is one he thought up 30 years ago "for a type of slumgullion I fixed for the fellows at the fire house. I put the name to the lobster dish because I couldn't think of any other."

Golden Milestone

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Sister Miriam recently completed 50 years of teaching without a day's absence from the classroom. Most of her work was done in Boston, with a 19-year tour in Nebraska, before coming to SS Simon and Jude School in 1960.

Wismer Files $2.5 Million Slander Suit

BOSTON (AP)—A $2.5 million slander suit has been filed by Harry Wismer and the New York Titans of the American Football League against Theodore A. (Ted) Barron of Newton and Harold Brown of Newton, Barron's counsel.

The suit charges fraud and misrepresentation in efforts by Barron, a Boston businessman, to buy the Titans. The suit was filed in U.S. District Court Thursday.

A spokesman for Barron and Brown said they welcome the opportunity to present their case in court. He added they are contemplating action for a possible counter suit.

Wismer set forth he owns 80 per cent in the Titans.

The suit charges the defendants, representing a group of industrialists, backed down on a deal to buy the Titans for a $1.7 million.

In the suit, Wismer said he expressed a willingness to sell the football club before Jan. 25, 1963, and Barron and Brown expressed a willingness to buy.

Wismer charges Brown and Barron backed out and that slanderous statements were made by the defendants to the effect that: The Titans were in a precarious franchise situation; that there was a heavy debt, and that there was involvement with American Football League headquarters.

Negro School Losing Some Grid Talent

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—White colleges searching for Negro athletic talent are closing on on Jake Gaither of Florida A&M, the nation's most celebrated Negro football coach.

The latest bad news to afflict Jake's ears was a report that Wake Forest will begin actively recruiting Negro athletes, and another that Maryland will play a Negro halfback next season.

"This concerns me a great deal," Gaither moaned. "They can take my boys, but I can't take theirs. I know a lot of good white players I would like to have on my team."

He wasn't surprised, though. Gaither has had a beautiful lock on Florida's Negro high school talent, but lately he has felt it gradually slipping.

But the distinguished coach, whose teams have been perennial contenders for the national Negro championship, feels that the top Negro schools will continue to do all right, because they offer advantages a colored boy can't get in the big white schools.

"Here, they find a better social life and more satisfying comradeship," he said.

Gaither expects the competition for Negro players to grow more severe.

A dozen of Gaither's boys are playing in pro ranks.

On the attractive Florida A&M campus, Jake has developed teams that have been fast, colorful and exciting.

"You take a hound dog," Gaither once said, "and tie him up on Friday morning, and don't give him anything to eat. Then on Saturday, you untie him and pour kerosene on his tail. That's the kind of speed I get from my boys."

3 Pitchers Signed By Cleveland Indians

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians said today they have received the signed contracts of pitchers Gordon Seyfried, Tommy John, Dave Tyriver and Floyd Weaver.

They will report to spring training camp at Tucson Feb. 21 with the vanguard of pitchers and catchers. The Tribe now has 14 players in the fold.

One Of Those Days, Nothing Went Right

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — They who only stand and wait are better off than they who light a bonfire of newspapers to keep warm while waiting, three teen-age boys have learned.

Fire Prevention Bureau officials said the trio started the fire in an entryway to a temporarily closed school to warm their hands while waiting for their girl friends. No flagrant violation was noted, but a juvenile court judge ordered each to write a 1,000-word theme on "The Danger of Fires."

They learned their waiting was all in vain, too. They were at the wrong bus stop to meet the girls.

Things Were Jumping In Freight Office

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A tadpole tangle created a crisis that never will be forgotten at a freight office here.

Deciding to venture into the bullfrog business, Wallace E. Johnson ordered a batch of frogs and tadpoles from a St. Louis firm.

The shipment arrived on a Friday but nobody could locate Johnson to make delivery.

The men at the freight office were nervous wrecks by the time delivery was made on Monday. They had spent the whole weary weekend pouring fresh water over the tadpoles.

The tag, which should have been on the crate with the 12 frogs instead of the one with the 6,000 tads, read:

"Insured for $20 each."

Art Heyman of Rockville Center, N.Y., led Duke's basketball team in scoring last season. He averaged 25.3 points for 24 games. He is a 6-foot-5 senior.

Battalion Fire Chief Has Way With Flames

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Battalion Chief Edward W. Gallagher of the St. Louis Fire Department has a way with flames, whether they be on a burning building or in the oven.

Chief Gallagher won the Missouri championship this year in a national men's cooking competition.

The chief won with a culinary creation called "Lobster Chip Boog-A-Roo."

He said the name "Boog-A-Roo" is one he thought up 30 years ago "for a type of slumgullion I fixed for the fellows at the fire house. I put the name to the lobster dish because I couldn't think of any other."

Golden Milestone

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Sister Miriam recently completed 50 years of teaching without a day's absence from the classroom. Most of her work was done in Boston, with a 19-year tour in Nebraska, before coming to SS Simon and Jude School in 1960.

Wismer Files $2.5 Million Slander Suit

BOSTON (AP)—A $2.5 million slander suit has been filed by Harry Wismer and the New York Titans of the American Football League against Theodore A. (Ted) Barron of Newton and Harold Brown of Newton, Barron's counsel.

The suit charges fraud and misrepresentation in efforts by Barron, a Boston businessman, to buy the Titans. The suit was filed in U.S. District Court Thursday.

A spokesman for Barron and Brown said they welcome the opportunity to present their case in court. He added they are contemplating action for a possible counter suit.

Wismer set forth he owns 80 per cent in the Titans.

The suit charges the defendants, representing a group of industrialists, backed down on a deal to buy the Titans for a $1.7 million.

In the suit, Wismer said he expressed a willingness to sell the football club before Jan. 25, 1963, and Barron and Brown expressed a willingness to buy.

Wismer charges Brown and Barron backed out and that slanderous statements were made by the defendants to the effect that: The Titans were in a precarious franchise situation; that there was a heavy debt, and that there was involvement with American Football League headquarters.

Negro School Losing Some Grid Talent

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—White colleges searching for Negro athletic talent are closing on on Jake Gaither of Florida A&M, the nation's most celebrated Negro football coach.

The latest bad news to afflict Jake's ears was a report that Wake Forest will begin actively recruiting Negro athletes, and another that Maryland will play a Negro halfback next season.

"This concerns me a great deal," Gaither moaned. "They can take my boys, but I can't take theirs. I know a lot of good white players I would like to have on my team."

He wasn't surprised, though. Gaither has had a beautiful lock on Florida's Negro high school talent, but lately he has felt it gradually slipping.

But the distinguished coach, whose teams have been perennial contenders for the national Negro championship, feels that the top Negro schools will continue to do all right, because they offer advantages a colored boy can't get in the big white schools.

"Here, they find a better social life and more satisfying comradeship," he said.

Gaither expects the competition for Negro players to grow more severe.

A dozen of Gaither's boys are playing in pro ranks.

On the attractive Florida A&M campus, Jake has developed teams that have been fast, colorful and exciting.

"You take a hound dog," Gaither once said, "and tie him up on Friday morning, and don't give him anything to eat. Then on Saturday, you untie him and pour kerosene on his tail. That's the kind of speed I get from my boys."

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians said today they have received the signed contracts of pitchers Gordon Seyfried, Tommy John, Dave Tyriver and Floyd Weaver.

They will report to spring training camp at Tucson Feb. 21 with the vanguard of pitchers and catchers. The Tribe now has 14 players in the fold.

One Of Those Days, Nothing Went Right

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — They who only stand and wait are better off than they who light a bonfire of newspapers to keep warm while waiting, three teen-age boys have learned.

Fire Prevention Bureau officials said the trio started the fire in an entryway to a temporarily closed school to warm their hands while waiting for their girl friends. No flagrant violation was noted, but a juvenile court judge ordered each to write a 1,000-word theme on "The Danger of Fires."

They learned their waiting was all in vain, too. They were at the wrong bus stop to meet the girls.

East German Trapeze Artist Uses Power Cable In Escape

BERLIN (AP)—Sliding along on the seat of his pants, an East German trapeze artist fled over the heads of Communist border guards into West Berlin on a 110-000-volt power cable.

"I could hear humming and had a tickling sensation in my seat," said Horst Klein, 36.

One slip and Klein would have burned to a crisp.

A professional trapeze artist, Klein had been forbidden to work in East German circuses because he was an outspoken anti-Communist.

"I couldn't live any longer without the smell of the circus in my nostrils," he said.

On the night of Dec. 27 he climbed a steel power pylon on the Communist side of the Berlin wall and leaped to the big porcelain insulator on the cable.

"I knew that if I touched the tower and the cable at the same time, I would be turned to ashes," he told newsmen Thursday night.

From the insulator, Klein eased himself down onto the cable and slid 70 yards on the seat of his pants to another insulator then he jumped to a second tower.

His hands were numbing fast in the 7-degree cold.

Below him, two East German guards patrolled the wire barricades facing West Berlin's Teltow Canal. Klein was above the beams of the border searchlights.

Past the second tower, Klein slid another 30 yards, then hooked his legs over the cable and began to work a rope he had coiled around his chest.

He threw the rope across the cable in an effort to lower himself down into the Western zone. But his numbed hands missed the rope and he plunged 40 feet to the canal towpath in the West, only a few feet beyond a clump of bushes marking the border.

Klein came to three hours later and shouted for help. A woman heard him and called West German police. A fire brigade took him across the canal in a rubber boat.

In the fall Klein broke his arms. His story came out after it became known that the East Berlin police had learned of his escape route.

A survey by the Chamber's industrial department also said business firms invested about $127 million in expansion programs started or completed during 1962.

URW Adopts Pact Program

CLEVELAND (AP) — One full year off with pay every seven years for every worker and bonuses every month based on increased productivity. These are two items the United Rubber Workers Union says it will ask in contract talks expected to start next month with major rubber producers.

The URW policy committee adopted a 1963 economic program Thursday including these and other proposals. The program calls for a "substantial general wage increase," stronger job security, creation of company-wide automation committees and various improvements in working conditions and benefits.

There was no immediate reaction from industry spokesmen.

Contracts with three major rubber companies—Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., B.F. Goodrich and Firestone Tire & Rubber Co.—expire April 20. The URW-U.S. Rubber Co. contract runs out June 1.

URW International President George Burdon said a full sabbatical leave program, providing that each worker on leave is replaced, would increase a plant's work force by an average of 15 per cent. He added that a modified program now being drawn up would increase employment 3 to 4 per cent.

He said the one-year sabbatical leaves, in addition to increasing the number of available jobs, would give workers a chance to rest, travel and perform activities.

Tri-State Asphalt's Board Picks Officers

The Board of Directors of the Tri-State Asphalt Co., which opened a plant here last year, has elected officers in an annual meeting following selection of directors by shareholders at the main offices in Martins Ferry.

They are John E. Morgan, president; Harold E. Burgey, secretary-treasurer; Robert J. Mulroy, vice president-sales and estimating; James W. Lambert, vice president-construction, and George F. Trigg, sales manager.

The local plant is on the River Rd. Another is in Weirton.

J. & L. Reports Drop In Earnings For 1962

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. reported Thursday net income of $25.19 million, or $3.02 per share, in 1962 compared with 1961 earnings of $32.13 million, equal to $3.90 a share.

Sales and operating revenues last year totaled $790.82 million compared with $736.73 million the previous year, a 7 per cent increase.

A professional trapeze artist, Klein had been forbidden to work in East German circuses because he was an outspoken anti-Communist.

"I couldn't live any longer without the smell of the circus in my nostrils," he said.

On the night of Dec. 27 he climbed a steel power pylon on the Communist side of the Berlin wall and leaped to the big porcelain insulator on the cable.

"I knew that if I touched the tower and the cable at the same time, I would be turned to ashes," he told newsmen Thursday night.

From the insulator, Klein eased himself down onto the cable and slid 70 yards on the seat of his pants to another insulator then he jumped to a second tower.

His hands were numbing fast in the 7-degree cold.

Below him, two East German guards patrolled the wire barricades facing West Berlin's Teltow Canal. Klein was above the beams of the border searchlights.

Past the second tower, Klein slid another 30 yards, then hooked his legs over the cable and began to work a rope he had coiled around his chest.

He threw the rope across the cable in an effort to lower himself down into the Western zone. But his numbed hands missed the rope and he plunged 40 feet to the canal towpath in the West, only a few feet beyond a clump of bushes marking the border.

Klein came to three hours later and shouted for help. A woman heard him and called West German police. A fire brigade took him across the canal in a rubber boat.

In the fall Klein broke his arms. His story came out after it became known that the East Berlin police had learned of his escape route.

URW Adopts Pact Program

CLEVELAND (AP) — One full year off with pay every seven years for every worker and bonuses every month based on increased productivity. These are two items the United Rubber Workers Union says it will ask in contract talks expected to start next month with major rubber producers.

The URW policy committee adopted a 1963 economic program Thursday including these and other proposals. The program calls for a "substantial general wage increase," stronger job security, creation of company-wide automation committees and various improvements in working conditions and benefits.

There was no immediate reaction from industry spokesmen.

Contracts with three major rubber companies—Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., B.F. Goodrich and Firestone Tire & Rubber Co.—expire April 20. The URW-U.S. Rubber Co. contract runs out June 1.

URW International President George Burdon said a full sabbatical leave program, providing that each worker on leave is replaced, would increase a plant's work force by an average of 15 per cent. He added that a modified program now being drawn up would increase employment 3 to 4 per cent.

He said the one-year sabbatical leaves, in addition to increasing the number of available jobs, would give workers a chance to rest, travel and perform activities.

Tri-State Asphalt's Board Picks Officers

The Board of Directors of the Tri-State Asphalt Co., which opened a plant here last year, has elected officers in an annual meeting following selection of directors by shareholders at the main offices in Martins Ferry.

They are John E. Morgan, president; Harold E. Burgey, secretary-treasurer; Robert J. Mulroy, vice president-sales and estimating; James W. Lambert, vice president-construction, and George F. Trigg, sales manager.

The local plant is on the River Rd. Another is in Weirton.

J. & L. Reports Drop In Earnings For 1962

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. reported Thursday net income of $25.19 million, or $3.02 per share, in 1962 compared with 1961 earnings of $32.13 million, equal to $3.90 a share.

Sales and operating revenues last year totaled $790.82 million compared with $736.73 million the previous year, a 7 per cent increase.

German Countess Wanda Puker, 73, her sister, Margot, 70, and the countess' daughter, Baroness Margot Schaffer von Bernstin, 47, held a joyful reunion in Verona, Italy, with 30 Italian prisoners they befriended during World War II.

The prisoners were forced laborers at the countess' Lagow estate in Poland. The three women slipped past armed guards at night to give the Italians food and words of cheer.

As the war was ending, one of the prisoners took the ladies safely to American and British lines to keep them from falling into the hands of advancing Soviet troops. The ladies now live at Limburg, Germany.

Dirk U. Stikker, secretary-general of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, is headed for The Hague, the Netherlands, to discuss with Dutch Premier Jan de Quay and other officials the U.S. proposal for multilateral agreements on the use of nuclear weapons.

Dr. George Alexander Heard takes over as chancellor of Vanderbilt University at Nashville. Heard, 45, succeeds Dr. Harvie Branscomb, who resigned. Heard was dean of the graduate school of the University of North Carolina, and served as chairman of a presidential commission on election campaign costs. Branscomb becomes educational adviser for the World Bank.

Suitor Keeps Promise And Does Come Back

MIAMI (AP) — "I'll be back," proclaimed the angry suitor, Thomas Bishop, 36, as he marched out of his living room leaving a distressed damsel sitting there.

He was.

Bishop backed out of the driveway, put his car in the wrong gear, and smashed through his picture window.

In the living room once again, Bishop said, "Told you I'd return."

ACIDS

QUESTION: Are all acids strong and dangerous?

ANSWER: Acids are substances which taste sour when dissolved in water, turn blue litmus paper to red and neutralize or break down certain opposite substances called "bases". When acids and bases unite they form "salts." Many of the acids are very strong and dangerous, which is why our artist has symbolized them as a dragon. For instance, sulfuric acid is so strong it can dissolve many metals. Hydrochloric acid eats away almost anything it touches and just to breathe the vapor of the extremenly poisonous hydroflouric acid means death. Yet such dangerous acids are very important in industry as our picture suggests.

Not all acids are dangerous and dragon-like. The amino acids are very friendly ones indeed, for without them we could not live. They make up the protein substances which build and repair the cells of our bodies. Proteins, which come to us from eating foods like eggs, meat and some vegetables, furnish us with heat and energy. Citric acid is another friend of mankind, present in citrous fruits, such as lemon, oranges and grapefruit.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Take a small sip of lemon juice without sugar. It is not unpleasant, but tart, sharp, sour—which is the way most acids taste. This will give you an idea of what acids are like. But don't go around sipping other acids—most are exteremly poisonous.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Survey Breaks Up That Ol' Gang At 'Empire'

Richard Egan, who becomes bossman of the Garret ranch on NBC's "Empire" this month, says, "I can only hope we're doing the right thing." Egan is referring to the dropping of Terry Moore and Anne Seymour from the cast. In the Feb. 19 show, Connie Garret (Terry) heads for the horizon with her groom-to-be. Three weeks later, a fatal disease strikes Lucie Garret (Anne), and she succumbs bravely. When an expensive TV series has just a so-so audience rating — not bad enough to cancel, but not good enough to send the sponsors into ecstasy — what can be done about it?

Hal Humphrey

-:-

THE OBVIOUS answer is to spend more dough and get better scripts, but hardly anyone involved with producing a series thinks of that.

Most TV producers and sponsors (and the networks) don't have enough faith in the TV audience's taste for quality to bother with beefing up the scripts.

New character gimmicks or a new producer or even new time spots are easier to find anyway.

Egan is confused and uncertain about the change, because this is his first experience as star of a TV series. Bill Dozier, head of Screen Gems (where "Empire" is produced), called Egan in one day and told him about the change.

-:-

"I BELIEVE one of the sponsors took a survey in the East, and it showed the two women weren't scoring heavily enough," Egan reports.

A Screen Gems official confirms this and explains that the sponsor instructed its dealers around the country to find out from their customers how they liked "Empire."

"Even though we're doing a modern-day Western, the women in it seemed to bother the viewers, or at least that's what we were told.

"We're adding two men, Warren Vanders and Charles Bronson, because it's supposed to be easier for the writers to write for four men," Egan adds. "Vanders will play it for comedy."

I pointed out to Egan that, last season, "Laramie," the Western which precedes "Empire" on Tuesdays, replaced Hoagy Carmichael (who was playing it for comedy) with Spring Byington, because it was felt some feminine interest was needed.

-:-

IF WE DUG deeply enough, we'd probably find that somebody took a survey to determine that change, too. Sponsor surveys are fairly common.

Variety (the trade paper) reported recently that one manufacturer distributes "exhaustive questionnaires" to all of its executives and their wives, asking that they report their likes and dislikes concerning all TV shows sponsored by that manufacturer.

One question asks, "Did humor arise from a 'little guy' putting something over on a 'big guy'?"

Another poser wanted to know, "To what extent were any of the female characters shown provocatively clad?"

It seems fairly obvious from such questions that neither Buster Keaton nor Brigitte Bardot is likely to wind up on TV sponsored by that manufacturer.

EGAN OWNS one-third of "Empire," which explains the apprehensive furrows on his brow whenever he discusses the overhauling the series is going through.

What undoubtedly makes him more nervous is his lack of knowledge about TV intricacies. He has to take the word of the so-called experts with their "family" surveys.

"I took this role of Jim Redigo," says Egan, "because he isn't a cry-baby hero who forever is explaining why he does things. I'm bored with these TV heroes who do things because they hate their mothers.

"Redigo is not addicted to anything. He's just a guy who does what he has to do, and he doesn't need explaining."

HILLSBORO, Ohio (AP)—Only one of four men who sawed their way out of Highland County Jail last June 11 remains at large, Sheriff Walter Reffitt says.

Two of the jailbreakers were caught June 12, and the sheriff said he was notified by the FBI that John S. Donaleski, 40, New York, has been arrested in Montgomery, Ala.

The previously caught escapees are Glenn McGrath, 28, Chicago, and Harold Lawwill, 35, Hillsboro. James C. Mabry, 29, Columbus, is at large.

TVA Wants To Buy 25,000 P-a-l-n-u-t-s

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—The Tennessee Valley Authority announced with routine formality that it wants to buy 25,000 palnuts.

A spokesman for the river development agency was pressed by a reporter for a definition Thursday.

"Say that again," he requested. The newsman obliged: "palnuts. p-a-l-n-u-t-s."

The TVA man sought help from his dictionary. No luck.

A utilities company provided the answer. A palnut is a sort of glorified lock washer for bolts.

New Court Airing Due Labor Dispute

CINCINNATI (AP)—The dispute between the Trailmobile Corp. and the AFL-CIO United Auto Workers Union is due to have another court airing next week.

Common Pleas Court Judge Louis J. Schneider Thursday ordered the company to halt the suspensions of nine UAW Local 392 officers and set a hearing for Monday. Trailmobile suspended the men because they allegedly did not work hard enough to induce 1,100 union members to end a wildcat strike over work rules.

Young Mother Triumphs Over Pounds

Inspiration is every bit as necessary as information when it comes to buckling down to reducing.

True, with the science of nutrition applied to meals, excess fat can be lost without too much of a struggle. And daily exercise can slim off bulky inches. But the inspiration found in the letters from reducers who have caught the spirit gives a much needed boost to the morale of overweights.

Ida Jean Kain

Today's letter from a young mother in Maine is a real tonic. She's on her way.

"Slimming down is something I've wanted to do since my second child was born four years ago. When I married I weighed 125 pounds and had a neat figure. But my weight soared to 208 pounds!

—:—

"NOW I AM finally and really losing this bulky fat. While I started to diet with the aid of pills which my doctor prescribed, I took them for only two weeks.

"I began reducing in November. Starting weight 208. Starting measurements: Bust 46; waist 37, abdomen 45, hips 48, thighs 25, calf 16, arms 14.

"Now the good news. Weight 188. And I have lost a total of 15 inches off my measurements.

"I exercise every day, usually before ten in the morning. It helps to have a regular time for exercise. I'm so proud of myself, and so is my husband. He didn't like all that weight! I would like to report to you again.

"I'm 24 years old. I surely hope this encourages some other young mother to whip into streamlining action. I feel just wonderful! Thanks for the help I get from your daily column."

That's the spirit! This young woman sees this as a new beginning, and with that attitude she can go ahead in a gay and lighthearted way. She does not regard reducing as an ordeal. Life is actually more fun for her now!

Many of you ask if appetite curbers and reducing medication makes reducing easier. Sometimes an appetite depressent is helpful at the start. But successful dieters always discontinue the pills after two weeks. Know for a fact that if you use pills as a crutch, you will never write a triumphant letter.

DIETING ISN'T so tough, once you make up your mind to change your food habits. And daily exercise can help you to feel alive and restore your slim good looks. Why not try it?

Pole Felled By Car Kills Pedestrian

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—A traffic light pole, felled by a car carrying two schoolgirls, fatally injured a pedestrian at a downtown intersection Thursday.

Officers twice pursued and caught the driver, 15, and her companion, 14.

The left leg of Eva Thompson, 54, a widow, was nearly amputated by the pole. She died at a hospital three hours later.

Capt. Frank Martin said the older girl told him she had driven a car only once before. The vehicle hit the pole while trying to round a corner.

The stepfather of the 14-year-old girl told police the car was taken without his permission.

Both girls were turned over to juvenile authorities. Unless a criminal complaint is filed, state law prohibits publication of their names.

Survey Breaks Up That Ol' Gang At 'Empire'

Richard Egan, who becomes bossman of the Garret ranch on NBC's "Empire" this month, says, "I can only hope we're doing the right thing." Egan is referring to the dropping of Terry Moore and Anne Seymour from the cast. In the Feb. 19 show, Connie Garret (Terry) heads for the horizon with her groom-to-be. Three weeks later, a fatal disease strikes Lucie Garret (Anne), and she succumbs bravely. When an expensive TV series has just a so-so audience rating — not bad enough to cancel, but not good enough to send the sponsors into ecstasy — what can be done about it?

Hal Humphrey

THE OBVIOUS answer is to spend more dough and get better scripts, but hardly anyone involved with producing a series thinks of that.

Most TV producers and sponsors (and the networks) don't have enough faith in the TV audience's taste for quality to bother with beefing up the scripts.

New character gimmicks or a new producer or even new time spots are easier to find anyway.

Egan is confused and uncertain about the change, because this is his first experience as star of a TV series. Bill Dozier, head of Screen Gems (where "Empire" is produced), called Egan in one day and told him about the change.

-:-

"I BELIEVE one of the sponsors took a survey in the East, and it showed the two women weren't scoring heavily enough," Egan reports.

A Screen Gems official confirms this and explains that the sponsor instructed its dealers around the country to find out from their customers how they liked "Empire."

"Even though we're doing a modern-day Western, the women in it seemed to bother the viewers, or at least that's what we were told.

"We're adding two men, Warren Vanders and Charles Bronson, because it's supposed to be easier for the writers to write for four men," Egan adds. "Vanders will play it for comedy."

I pointed out to Egan that, last season, "Laramie," the Western which preceded "Empire" on Tuesdays, replaced Hoagy Carmichael (who was playing it for comedy) with Spring Byington, because it was felt some feminine interest was needed.

IF WE DUG deeply enough, we'd probably find that somebody took a survey to determine that change, too. Sponsor surveys are fairly common.

Variety (the trade paper) reported recently that one manufacturer distributes "exhaustive questionnaires" to all of its executives and their wives, asking that they report their likes and dislikes concerning all TV shows sponsored by that manufacturer.

One question asks, "Did humor arise from a 'little guy' putting something over on a 'big guy'?"

Another poser wanted to know, "To what extent were any of the female characters shown provocatively clad?"

It seems fairly obvious from such questions that neither Buster Keaton nor Brigitte Bardot is likely to wind up on TV sponsored by that manufacturer.

EGAN OWNS one-third of "Empire," which explains the apprehensive furrows on his brow whenever he discusses the overhauling the series is going through.

What undoubtedly makes him more nervous is his lack of knowledge about TV intricacies. He has to take the word of the so-called experts with their "family" surveys.

"I took this role of Jim Redigo," says Egan, "because he isn't a cry-baby hero who forever is explaining why he does things. I'm bored with these TV heroes who do things because they hate their mothers.

"Redigo is not addicted to anything. He's just a guy who does what he has to do, and he doesn't need explaining."
